French Demands

FRANCE MUST BEAR BLAME

Group in Naval Committee Stands
Pat For Navy Larger Than Japan's—Ratio Suggested 1.7

(By United Press)

Paris, Dec. 17.—France is opposed to the abolition of the submarines. She sees no reason why they should not have a navy as big as Japan. In these statements made semi-officially today, France takes a direct issue with Britain at the Washington arms conference.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Premiers Lloyd George and Briand may have to take a hand in settling the startling situation stirred up by France's demand for a navy larger than Japan.

This was indicated today by some of the conferees while the navy sub-committees of 15 labored to get France in line. The French group in the committee stood pat on its demands for a navy larger than Japan.

The opening communique on the morning session noted merely the opening of the meeting and adjournment until eleven o'clock Monday morning. This indicated the committeemen were still unable to agree.

Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation at the meeting, answered as best he could the biting words of Balfour and Hughes in yesterday's meeting when they clearly let France understand she must bear the blame if disarmament fails now.

Hughes had definitely told France an adequate ratio would be 1.7.

The belief prevailed that France in the committee of fifteen meeting today would start to back down. Her stand is such a shock to all the other delegates that some observers believed an unfortunate diplomatic blunder had been committed by some one.

Feeling between the British and French has again become tense. The French now are charging the British with a breach of faith in revealing their naval program yesterday and the British reply that the French are out of sympathy now with the spirit of the conference.

CHOSEN FOR TOUR OF ONE YEAR IN EUROPE

Former Rushville Man Selected by
Boston University Because of His Scholarship

TO BE GRADUATED IN JUNE

Earl B. Marlatt, former instructor in the Rushville high school, has been selected, due to his scholarship, by Boston university, as one of two students in the University to represent the school in a year's observation work in Europe.

Mr. Marlatt, together with the other man named, will sail for England early in September, 1922, for the year's tour of the continent.

Mr. Marlatt is a student in the school of theology in the university and has made a splendid record, as the selection for the year's visit to Europe indicates. The two students names each year to represent the university are chosen purely on their records in scholarship. All of their expenses are paid by the university, and at the end of the year, they return and make a report of these observations.

Mr. Marlatt will be graduated from the school of theology in June. He is a brother of Mrs. J. H. Scholl and is well known in Rushville where he resided for several years.

Opportunity to Perform a Service at Christmas Time.

The opportunity to perform a real service to the community is staring someone in the face—and the accepted time to do it is at Christmas time.

The Salvation Army leader in Rushville is in very difficult straits for the want of some means of getting about, and it is his opinion—which is shared by many—that there may be some big-hearted person in Rush county who stands ready to give Envoy Ellis an automobile. It makes no difference to him what kind of a machine it is—or what condition it may be in. So it has four wheels and an engine that will run—that's the main thing.

Envoy Ellis is called on to make many visits outside of Rushville. He holds meetings at stated intervals at the county poor infirmary and at other points in the county. It is believed that an automobile would be of immense value to him and would increase his ability to serve.

Very recently the people of Fairmount, W. Va., raised a sum of money and bought the army leader a machine.

FIGHTING FOLLOWS APPROVAL OF TREATY

Score or More Persons Wounded in Gun Battles in Streets of Belfast

OUTBREAK IS WORST YET

Belfast, Dec. 17.—A score or more persons were wounded in gun battles in the streets of Belfast following the approval by the British parliament of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

A sixteen year old girl and a thirteen year old boy were among those shot by Ulster and Sinn Fein gunmen who lodged themselves in places of hiding in street intersections and alleys, pouring fire into the streets. The militia attacked the gunmen in armored cars and finally drove them from their places of vantage.

Throughout the night fighting continued in various sections of the city. The first serious outbreak followed the firing of shots during which several were wounded. The outbreak was by far the most serious of the last month of peace negotiations and he militia attempted to prevent the spreading of the disturbances.

Sheppard Refused Clemency

ACTION BY PARDON BOARD

Five prisoners, sentenced from Rush county, were refused pardons or paroles by Governor McCray, and the matter of a parole for Victor Ellerman was continued until some further meeting of the board.

The prisoners who were refused paroles were Boaz Demaree, James Martin, Fred and Edward Beemer and Russell Sheppard. Demaree was sentenced on April 23, 1920, two to fourteen years, on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony. The other four were sentenced September 23, 1920, for a term of 2 to 14 years on a charge of store breaking, being convicted of entering the Knecht clothing store here.

Demaree was sentenced to the State Prison and the remaining four were given sentences at the reformatory. Although they were sentenced from here, none lived in Rush county. Demaree resided in Greensburg, Sheppard and the two Beemer brothers lived in Muncie and Martin lived in Winchester.

Santa Claus Almost In Mourning Because of Poor Showing of Friends

He is Hoping They Will Come to The Realization Next Week That Some Little Folks Will Be Disappointed
if They Don't Step into the Breath.

Santa Claus was almost in mourning today because of the way his old friends have deserted him.

With just a week to go, the Daily Republican-Salvation Army Christmas fund was not half of the sum raised last year—and the need is just as great as it was last year, too.

There are just six more days to give and the contributions will have to average close to $50 a day in order for the fund to approach the total for Christmas in 1920.

There was a lull in the giving and no report was made Friday, so that the list today includes two days' contributions, amounting in all to less than $34. More than half of this sum came from the Salvation Army kettle, which is doing valiant service on the streets daily. A new record for this year was established Thursday when the kettle yielded $11.

He is hoping, of course, that they will come to a realization of the fact that some children will be disappointed Christmas morning if they don't do their bit—and will boost the total next week.

The names of one hundred and eighty-one children in forty-seven different homes have been reported by the investigators for the fund as being without hope of any Christmas.

Counties in The State

In the twelve consolidated schools of Rush county, the Homer school in Walker township and the Moscow school in Orange township tied for first in the percentage of attendance for the first three months of the school term, with an average of 99.1 at each school.

The Moscow school in reality made a better showing on account of the larger number of pupils enrolled, with 175 as against 119 in the Homer school. The Homer school had eight tardies while there were seven in the Moscow school.

Glenwood ranked lowest of the consolidated schools with a percent of 97.4, but even at that, the figures for attendance is above most schools in the state and the average for the twelve consolidated schools was 98.2 percent.

The report, which was compiled by County School Superintendent W. E. Wagoner, shows that there are 2,146 pupils enrolled in the consolidated schools, which includes the grades and high schools of the twelve townships.

The Rushville township school, commonly called the Webb school, ranked with the best record for tardies during the first three months of school, when only two pupils were late. The school lost ten minutes time as the result of the tardies.

Raleigh topped the list with tardies when 54 pupils were late and caused the school to lose 617 minutes.

Merchants Point Out They Must do

Record Due to Lower Prices

ALL MERCHANDISE IS CHEAPER

Heavy Decline in Toys Especially,
Some Dropping 100 Percent—
Christmas Meal to Cost Less

Practically every business firm in Rushville will have to do more business this year, and especially during the next week, in order to bring their sales up to records established last year and the year before, according to reports of several of the owners of local stores, which is due to the decline in price of merchandise in almost every line of business.

Buyers looking over the toys find possibly the greatest drop in prices than over any other article. Some toys have dropped 100 percent from last year, and no other item took such a tumble this year than did dolls, which are one-half last year's price, according to several local dealers.

One dealer stated that he would probably lose several hundred dollars on dolls this year, on account of his carrying over a stock from last year, which he is forced to sell the dolls this year, on account of his carrying over a stock from last year, which he is to sell at the new prices.

The reason for the big decline in toys this year is assigned to the fact that German-made goods are again flooding the market, forcing the American-made toys out of the way on account of the price. The shelves of the toy stores are lined with German-made toys this Christmas in Rushville, the first time since the war.

The kid body dolls were pointed out at one of the stores as an example of the big drop this year. The supply came in from Germany, and dolls which sold last year as high as $8.00 can be bought today for $2.98.

There are more new toys on the market this year than ever before, and in the list mechanical toys take their place, as the German-made products show many novel ideas in toys that have motion.

NO REHEARSAL ON HOL'DAYS

Community Orchestra Will Not
Meet After Sunday Until Jan. 8

The usual rehearsal of the Rushville community orchestra will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, instead of three, but the rehearsals will be omitted the next two Sundays on account of Christmas and New Years. The change in the time for the rehearsal Sunday was due to the request of several members who desired to get an earlier start.

Miss Sara I. McConnel, conductor, announced today that some new music would be introduced Sunday and urged that there be a full attendance of members. On account of the two holidays, there will be no rehearsals after Sunday until January 8. The orchestra is making preparations to give a concert soon.

FRED DECKER IS SET FREE BY JURY VERDICT

Acquitted of Murdering Leroy Lovett in Plot to Defraud Insurance Companies

CROWD APPLAUDS DECISION

(By United Press)
Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—Fred Decker was acquitted by a jury here late last night of murdering Leroy Lovett in a plot of defraud life insurance companies of $24,000.

After the jury had deliberated four hours and forty-five minutes, Decker was led into the court room to receive the verdict. He was smiling apparently confident, and the crowd broke into applause when the foreman said "not guilty."

Mrs. Decker, holding her six months old baby, handed it to a bystander and rushed to her husband embracing him.

"Now Fred we can go home," she cried sobbing.

Decker gave way to the nervous strain of weeks of trial and broke down and wept. He shook hands with each member of the jury and with all court attaches.

Four ballots were taken by the jury. The first stood 9 to 3 and the next two 10 to 2 for acquittal.

Prosecuting attorneys were considering the advisability today of proceeding with their case against Cal Decker, the third of three brothers charged with complicity in the crime. Virgil Decker, the other brother is serving a sentence of life imprisonment.

New York Stocks

New York, Dec. 17—The market showed little life during the first few minutes of trading today. The opening prices were little changed from Friday's last. The oils were firm and most of the early sales of Pacific oil were slightly under 50. Royal Dutch showed a gain of a point. Tobaccos acted well with some fairly heavy trading in retail stores above 59.

Coppers which have recently had a big advance, showed the effect of profit taking. Among the specialties Davison Chemical opened up 1½ at 54½, but on three sales dropped a point to 53½. Lackawanna led the rails with all of the early sales above.

Specialties were about the only stock that did much in the first hour. May Department stores made a new high for the year at 109 and Otis Steel cold at 12, up 23-8. Coppers were heavy and Utah was offered down to 63, off about 3 points from the weeks high. Oils did little with the exception of Royal Dutch which ran up close to 3 points.

Just before the end of the hour there was a sudden upturn in rails with Athisoj making a new high on the move at 93, while Lackawanna went above 117.

Opening prices today include: American Smelting 46; Studebaker 81½ off ½; Inspiration 42½; Famous Players 76½ off ¼; Texas Co. 473-8 off ½; New York Centra 73½; Bethlehem B 57 off ¼; Royal Dutch 51¾ up ¾; Retail stores 53½ up ½; Asphalt 593-8 off ½; Reading 51 up ½; Royal Dutch 51½ up ¾; American T 117½ up ½.

FRATERNITY HOUSE BURNS

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 17.—The Tampa-Chi Alpha fraternity house here was completely destroyed by fire late last night. It is believed a match thrown in a dumb waiter caused the fire. At the time the fire was discovered a dance was being given in the chapter house. Occupants of the house were able to save most of their personal belongings but the furniture was a complete loss. The damage was estimated to be around $20,000.

Because of Poor Showing of Friends

this year unless the more fortunate people come to their aid. The list is not yet complete and in all probability it will equal last year's when two hundred and seventeen children in sixty-five homes were remembered on Christmas day.

But last year $826.85 was contributed to provide gifts for these little folks. This year the friends of Santa Claus are not coming to the front as they did then. For this reason it is very evident that some tall hustling will have to be done during the last week if all of the unfortunate children are rewarded fittingly for keeping faith in Santa Claus.

Any doubt that the underprivileged children of Rushville are not in as great need this year as they have been previously, would be removed by anyone who examined the cards which have been turned in by the members of the county board of children's guardians.

For example, listen to this:

Father suffered severe accident has not been able to work for four months. Sometimes works an hour a day, but can not stand more. A boy sixteen years of age works after school and on Saturday. The father received accident insurance but this was discontinued the latter part of November. All of the children go to school and they have no income except what the older boy makes. There is still another child—the fifth—who is a dependent although grown.

This is only an instance that may be found in any of scores of Rushville homes. The children are not responsible for the plight in which Christmas finds them. They are entitled to be happy at the glad season. It is the purpose of the Christmas fund to make them happy. The more the people of the community open up their purposes for this mission of good cheer, just that much more will the little folks have at Christmas.

What Would You Do?

That is a question every Hoosier may well ask himself in connection with the great white plague, tuberculosis. What would you do if you fell victim to the disease?

The answer is difficult for the rich and the poor alike, as shown by a recent statement by Murray A. Auerbach shows that the Hoosier, while he has progressed with the world, has neglected to fortify himself properly against tuberculosis. The situation in brief is this:

If you fell victim to the plague, you would seek medical attendance. Your doctor would recommend nursing service. But there are only fifty-two tuberculosis nurses in Indiana, and only ten of them give all of their time to the work. Your doctor might wish to send you to a hospital but these are only five tuberculosis hospitals in Indiana. The State maintains one, and Allen, St. Joseph Marion and Vanderburg Counties have one each. In no other hospital of the State can tuberculosis be treated.

What would you do? Your doctor might suggest going to another, far-off State, which costs a great deal of money. Charity patients are not welcome in other states, because they have their own tuberculosis problem. The disease may be cured in Indiana as well as elsewhere, if the public will simply take heed of the situation.

Christmas Seal money has carried the educational and preventive campaign against tuberculosis to its present position. It supports 46 of the 52 tuberculosis nurses. The death rate is being reduced, but too little is still being done. More nurses and more hospitals are needed urgently. The people of the state should turn in and put their shoulders to this particular wheel, because it is one that rolls to their own protection and welfare. Just now the Tuberculosis Association is asking for a per capita contribution of seven cents. That average, we are told, will insure a strong program for next year, but the average citizen can well afford to invest many times that amount in Christmas Seals. What will you do?

The Difference

The world is torn, and bleeding, and desolate, and civilization disintegrates. That is the work of man.

Christmas bells ring merrily, and their chimes sound sweetly, and their message is a call to a purer and better life. That is the work of God.

God and man are far apart, but the road to a closer sympathy and understanding contains no obstacle that can not be moved aside or overcome.

In the home of plenty there will be rest and contentment as the Christmas bells chime.

In the hovel of wretchedness there will be only longing for the things that are not.

The hand in the hovel will be outstretched. Will the one in the realm of plenty be withdrawn? They should meet.

There's a reason why wise people are not averse to speaking of their own faults. It knocks the props from under their critics.

General Wood appears to be making good as governor general of the Philippines. He is keeping out of print.

The average investigating committee can not harm the innocent and does not harm the guilty.

Never mind explaining why you didn't do it. The fact that you didn't is all sufficient.

No, a prophet is never without honor as long as his own brain continues to function.

Perhaps the most mathematically correct postoffice in the country is Figure Five, Ark.

SECOND HIGHEST IN CLASS

In the state board examination of nurses held recently, Miss Pearl Leach of this city made a grade of 97.9, which was the second highest in the class. The highest average average, 98 percent, was made by Miss Mable Chaffe, a chum of Miss Leach's during the three years nurses' training course. Both were graduates of St. Anthony's hospital, Terre Haute.

LOCALS SWAMP FAIRVIEW FIVE

Rushville High School's Basketeers
Pile up Biggest Score of the Season Friday Night

COUNT 53 TO VISITORS 15

Substitutes Show Unusual Form in
Last Half—Varsity Combination Hard to Beat

The Fairview high school basketball team was swamped last night by the Rushville team, the score being 53 to 15, and in the curtain raiser the second team from the local school also won out in easy fashion, 34 to 10. Both games were hotly contested by the visitors, but they could not stand the pace set by the locals.

The first ten minutes of the big contest was a real battle, and Fairview jumped into the lead several times, at one time having 8 points to Rushville's 7, but after that the visiting team could not stand up under the rushes and fast team work, and Rushville had little trouble in taking the ball down the floor.

Neither team made much headway for the first few minutes of play and Rushville missed several shots after taking the ball through the line, and Fairview came close on their long shots, Casady broke the spell by making a field goal, and Phillips made it three points on a foul goal.

Then Custer, for the visitors, counted on a long shot from the field and a few seconds later Parker put Fairview in the lead 4 to 3, when he made a field goal.

Headlee batted the ball into the basket for Rushville and Casady again came across with a goal that gave Rushville the lead 7 to 4. Custer and Parker each contributed a goal for Fairview when their team showed a big rally, and then the visitors were leading 8 to 7.

Rushville called time, and then the locals re-entered the game with a determination to win, and Frazee, back guard for the locals, ventured to the center of the floor and with a clear shot, put the locals in front, and from this time on, Fairview trailed.

When the half way mark rolled around the score was 27 to 10, and in the last half the visitors made 5 more points while Rushville counted 26.

Headlee played at forward last night during the first half, and with Casady as his running mate, the pair worked out in good style. Frazee jumped at center, but dropped back to his regular position as back guard, and Pugh handled the center man during the game. Phillips played his usual game as running guard.

The combination used last night will be hard for any team to beat, and this line-up will probably be used against Valley Mills tonight, in that town.

The three substitutes were given a good workout in the last half, when Crimm replaced Casady, Sparks went in for Headlee and Sommerville played for Pugh.

The substitutes displayed equally as good team work, and held the visitors scoreless. The feature of the work of the substitutes was three field baskets by Sommerville, one right after the other, from near the foul line.

Throughout the game the team displayed some of the cleverest passing and team work of any team ever seen on the local floor, and all shots were made within close range of the basket.

The line-up and summary:
Rushville (53) Fairview (15)
Casady -----F----- Custer
Headlee -----F----- Parker
Pugh -----C----- Cook
Phillips -----G----- Darnell
Frazee -----G----- McClain
Substitutions: Rushville, Sparks for Headlee; Crimm for Casady; Sommerville for Pugh; Field goals, Casady 5, Headlee 6, Sparks 3, Pugh 3, Sommerville 3, Phillips 3, Frazee, Custer 2, Parker 3, Cook 2. Foul goals, Pugh 2, Phillips 3, Cook 1. Referee Babb.

RALEIGH WINS GAME, 49-10

Has Little Difficulty in Trimming
Milton Friday Night

Raleigh high school's basketball team had little difficulty in defeating the Milton high school five Friday night at Raleigh, winning handily with the score of 49 to 10. The Raleigh court men had everything their own way from the first whistle and held the visitors five points in each half, the score at the end of the first half being 22 to 5. In a curtain raiser, the Raleigh second team defeated Gings high school, 26 to 18.

Raleigh has been going exceptionally good this year and will take on the fast Cambridge City high school quintet next Friday night at Cambridge.

expressed among some of the business men, concerning the annual Christmas business, with the toy stores holding out that business was good, and would run close to the record of last year, while several of the stores that sell gifts of more useful articles, such as hardware stores, assert that business is not nearly as good as last year, even though prices have declined.

Every merchant anticipates heavy buying next week, and those whose business has not measured up to expectations, are hopeful that next week will make the tide turn.

Grocers assert that food prices in practically every article, show a drop this Christmas, but this class of business is not affected with the rush of the Christmas season until the last few days this year is back to normal, and prices on candy are from 30 to 50 percent lower than last year, with good candy for the Christmas stocking priced as low as 15 and 18 cents a pound, and chocolates may be found in some stores as low as 20 cents a pound.

Dry goods stores and clothing stores are having about their usual run of the Christmas trade, and the owners of several stores assert that sensible buying is the watchword with practically every purchaser.

The Christmas meal, if served with turkey this year, will run lower than last year, on account of the lower prices on most food. Turkey will probably sell at from 40 to 50 cents a pound, the same as last year, but a scarcity exists, it is said. For some unknown reason, cranberries this year are away up on price compared with last year.

One merchant in summing up the business conditions stated that the weather was not favorable for Christmas shopping and that people were not realizing that only a week remained.

"A good snow, and a little spell of real winter weather right now, would help business immensely," said one dealer.

Practically every merchant anticipated a busy week next week, and many predicted that buying would continue strong until late Saturday night, the eve before Christmas.

MOSCOW TRIMS MANILLA

Sets Fast Pace Defeating Walker
Townships Lads, 24-16

Moscow high school set a fast pace last night when they defeated the Manilla high school on the floor at Moscow, 24 to 16, and the Orange township team now has a record of six out of 7 games played, dropping a game early in the season to Manilla by a few points. The Moscow team is said to be a coming aggregation, and they have defeated Carthage this season on the Carthage floor, putting them in the front as a contender for the district honors.

In the curtain raiser last night the second team from Moscow also won out over the Manilla second team by the close count of 10 to 7.

CONSIDERING SALARY CUT

Indiana Farm Federation Takes up
Proposal to Lower Expenses

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 17—Directors of the Indiana Federation of Farmers Associations were meeting today to take final action on their proposal to cut the salaries of officers of the organization.

When they first announced their intentions, a storm of protest was drawn from the officers who said such action would disrupt the efficiency of the federation. The directors said salary cuts were in line with the general downward trend of the prices of farm products but some of the officers said they would refuse to accept a reduction.

AMUSEMENTS

"Rose of the West"

A man went out to buy a loaf of bread for his wife fifteen years ago. The other day he walked in, put down the bread, and said:

"Mother, here's the bread. I've been a long time getting it!"

In that fifteen years the man's family had not heard a word of or from him. When the husband went away his wife waited for him with the devotion of Enoch Arden's Annie. Then came a corroborated report that the man had been killed in Alaska.

Five years after the husband left she was married. Her second husband has made her a happy wife, educated her three children; and now this woman faces the problem, perplexing morally and legally, of possessing two husbands.

An instance similar to this is given in the William Fox play, "Rose of the West," in which a wife's brutal husband has left her and been reported dead—and she is about to marry another man, when the husband returns.

Just how most women would act in such circumstances is hard to say; but it is certain that what a woman of honor would do is portrayed in "Rose of the West," playing at the Mystic Theatre today.

PEPSINCO

It's a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment; if your food does you no good; if food distresses, rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEPSINCO.

Auction Bridge — No. 6

"The Play's the Thing"

With the bidding finished, and the right to play the hand purchased,—"The Play's the Thing."

The original leader, who is the player to the left of the highest bidder, or the one who first mentioned the suit, should strive to help his partner make good his suit.

In Auction the leader always has a cue for his opening lead. If his partner has made no bid, the inference is that he holds no valuable suit. If he has bid, then lead the highest of three or less and the lowest of four or more cards of his suit. If you hold the command of your partner's suit, always play it. If you hold honors in sequence, lead the highest. This is in accordance with the old rule, "Get rid of the command of your partner's suit."

Keep the command of the opponent's suit.

Against a no-trump make, the Eldest hand or Leader should open with the following cards:

Lead Ace when holding—

1. Ace, Queen, Jack, and others, with re-entry card.

2. Ace, and seven small cards.

3. Ace, Queen, and five small cards.

4. Ace, Jack and five small cards.

Lead King when holding—

1. Ace, King, Queen, and others.

2. Ace, King, Jack and others.

3. Ace King, Ten, and three small cards, with a re-entry card.

4. Ace, King, and five small cards.

5. King, Queen, Jack, and others.

6. King, Queen, Ten and others.

7. King, Queen and five small cards.

Lead Queen when holding—

1. Queen, Jack, Ten, and others.

2. Queen, Jack, Nine and others.

3. Ace, Queen, Jack, and others, without re-entry card.

Lead Jack when holding—

Jack, Ten, Nine, and others.

Lead Ten when holding— King, Jack, Ten, and others.

In a no-trump make your long suit is in no danger of being ruffed, (as each card is worth its face value), so unless it is already established, the chances for bringing it in will be increased by opening with a low card. When opening low, always lead your fourth best.

The only exception to the above in opening high card combinations is when you hold no re-entry card and have no show to make your suit. In that case, cash any trick the hand may have to save a little slam and to see Dummy's strength.

There are but few, indeed, very few, exceptions to the rule that your partner's suit be led at once.

More tricks, games, and rubbers are lost by the failure to give the partner his suit than by any other single error.

Give partner his suit first. Your good suit will keep, and the Dummy's weakness will generally reveal which it is.

If possible, lead to hold the first trick. After seeing Dummy's hand you are in a position to lead against his strength.

Opening Lead Against a Declared Trump

Quick action is good against a declared trump, as the knowledge is positive that your opponent holds strength and generally length of trumps. Cash in your suit cards, especially if you have length or strength of a suit.

1. With Ace, King, and others, lead the King.

2. With Ace and King alone, lead the Ace.

3. Lead a Singleton if short in trumps.

4. With King, Queen, and others, lead the Queen. (A suit with King, Queen, and one other is a weak opening. Better let the suit be led to you in which case two tricks may be made from the suit.)

5. Holding low honors in sequence, lead the highest, regardless of number.

6. Lead the Ace from any suit of five or more, unless the suit includes the Queen, in which case it forms the major tenace and it is best to have the lead come to you.

7. With any two card suit, open with the high one, except in the case of Ace and Queen, or King and one other.

8. With any other combination, lead the fourth best card of your longest suit.

Second Leads

No-Trumps. If you have opened the suit from a sequence, let the second lead be the lowest card of the sequence.

When a fourth best card is led, deduct the face value of the card led from Eleven, and the remainder will be the number of higher cards held by the other three players. For example: Eight is led. Eight from eleven leaves three. There are three higher cards than Eight which are not in the leader's hand.

This rule is especially valuable in the no-trump play to the third hand player, and enables him to finesse. It is known as Foster's Rule of Eleven.

Second Hand Plays

Cover an honor with an honor, if you hold a perfect or imperfect fourchette.

Holding two or more cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest.

If possible, beat Dummy's holding, for it may save high cards in your partner's hand.

If Dummy can beat any card you hold of the suit, play low.

If you hold the ace and other cards of the suit which the Dummy leads, and trumps are against you play your ace second in hand. If you wait, your ace may be trumped.

Never hesitate. By hesitation, information is given to the dealer and you assist him to place the strength and to finesse in Dummy's hand.

Third Hand Plays

Play your highest card if you can go higher than the cards already played. If you hold cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest of the sequence.

Never finesse in your partner's suit.

Men Who Dynamited Wall Street in September, 1920, Killing 37, Will be Arrested

SCATTERED ALL OVER WORLD

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 17.—The anarchists who dynamited Wall Street in September, 1920, killing thirty-seven persons, now are known to the department of justice William J. Burns, chief of department secret service, said today.

The arrests of the conspirators, now said to be scattered throughout several countries of the world, have been ordered, he indicated.

Burns announced he would leave for New York today to take personal charge of further activities toward apprehending those believed responsible for the explosion.

From a high source in the department of justice it was learned that Wolfe Lindenberg, reported to have been arrested and to have made a confession in connection with the crime at Warsaw, Poland is not considered one of the men who drove the dynamite wagon or planted the bomb.

He, however, is said to know all the principals and details to the plot to wreck the New York financial district and is believed to have been inducted to reveal everything as the result of a promise that he would receive the $30,000 reward offered by the New York financial houses for the apprehension of the dynamiters.

SHANTUNG BLOCKS ROAD TO PEACE

Can Not Long Be Obstruction if Japan is Willing to Surrender Possession Now or Fixed Time

SHOWS SUCH WILLINGNESS

Can be Counted Upon to Make any Concessions Asked in Interests of Peace, Bryan Asserts

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN (Copyright 1921 by United Press)

The Shantung question seems to be the difficult problem just now, but it cannot long obstruct the road to peace if Japan is willing to surrender possession now or at a fixed time in the near future.

Any fair conditions that she may suggest for the protection of property interests there can easily be met by China. When China is recognized as an independent nation, with full sovereignty over her domain and freed from the restrictions that have embarrassed her she will have no trouble in securing the money necessary for the purchase of any property that aliens now control.

Japan has shown such a willingness to conform to the spirit of the conference that she can be counted upon to make any concessions that can be reasonably asked in the interests of peace in the Far East.

Even the request that Japan makes for the retention of the Mutsu her largest and newest battle ships just launched, need not embarrass the conference if the adjustment made necessary does not compel the surrender of the naval holiday.

It would be a serious thing if any demand made by Japan should prevent the entire suspension of the construction of battleships. The proposition that the U. S. be permitted to retain two of its new battleships and that Great Britain be permitted to build two would not only very much lessen the moral force of the Hughes proposition but sentimentally speaking, it would greatly weaken the impression made by the cessation of work in navy yards.

It is possible that the addition made to Japan's navy by the retention of the Mutsu may be offset by the scrapping of an equal tonnage of smaller ships and it is likewise that such a division might be made between Great Britain and America as to permit the suspension of all work on naval craft for the proposed time. It would be most unfortunate if the conclusion of the conference brought the anti climax. The delegates cannot afford to dampen the enthusiasm aroused at the beginning of the gathering.

FAVORS ENDING OF MARINE OCCUPATION

APOLOGIZES TO THE PEOPLE

San Domingo, Dec. 17.—Senator Medill McCormick, chairman of the committee investigating alleged marine outrages in Haiti today declared he was interested in terminating the marine occupation of the island.

McCormick announcing his attitude asked several witnesses if they did not believe the marines should be withdrawn.

McCormick also apologized in the name of the American people for outrages alleged to have been committed by Captain Merkle. He said that the "occupation" jealous of its reputation, had sent officers to arrest Merkle but that he had then committed suicide.

Pedro Ribera, testified that a peaceful citizen had been taken from his home, a rope placed around his neck and his hands tied. Thus bound he was forced to run five kilometers behind a trotting horse with a marine holding the rope, Rivera said.

Rivera also told of another innocent citizen who was bound to a stake and given the water cure by Merkle three times.

Jose Jimenez, son of a former president, testified Capt. Crossley, of the U. S. S. Prairie, threatened in May 1915, to fire indiscriminately into crowds if a single shot were fired by Dominicans.

The Christmas Store

Plan several excursions to Mauzy's next week, where your Christmas shopping can be done in a most satisfactory manner. Our customers have been most agreeably surprised how very attractive the prices are on gifts of quality.

¶ Luscious silken under attire makes very pleasing gifts—so dainty and so attractive it appeals to all. Camisoles, bandeaus, envelopes, bloomers, and gowns of satin and crepe de chene are the offerings. Hand embroidered Porto Rico lingerie, too.

¶ Silken Hose makes satisfactory gifts only when the quality is right. Here you have that assurance with the added advantage of having many colors and styles from which to choose.

¶ Surely some of your friends would be gladdened with a gift of French ivory. The variety here is almost endless in both plain and decorated pieces. Ask for the ivory section and give your eyes a feast.

¶ Any lady would be greatly pleased with a gift of furs. The muskrat and Hudson seal coats are very attractive and the prices even more so. Visit Mauzy's for anything in fur, including children's sets.

¶ A shipment of Perky-Peggy house frocks has just reached us from the Pacific coast. You will receive them very enthusiastically when you see the unusual features. $2.00 to $3.95

¶ After Christmas prices prevail in ladies' coats, suits, dresses, skirts and blouses, so why not take advantage of them for gifts. The variety is all you could ask.

¶ The December shipment of Fitrite silk petticoats and pettibockers is in. One makes a splendid gift to mail to a distance.

¶ To look over the display you would think there was a pair of house slippers for every man, woman and child in the county. But if you wait too long, the proper size may be gone. Come tomorrow.

¶ What would be nicer than a light and warm home-made comfort? Some plain, others with borders, made of good silkoline and filled with the best cotton. $3.95 to $6.50

THE YULETIDE FLAME

Spark in Hearts of People Cannot Be Quenched.

All Have Desire to Make Fellowmen
Happy by Gift or Words of Greeting.

NEITHER hatred, nor envy, nor deceit, nor all the legions of ugly human passions that assail the heart, nor rancor between individuals, nor national lust for power, can extinguish it. They may dim but they can not quench the spark in the heart of man which impels him, as every wanting year brings the Christmas, to try to make a few of his fellowmen a little happier. Often it is by the method of the gift, perhaps something that costs hundreds of dollars, maybe only a penny card bearing an inscription of good cheer. Frequently it is something intangible, the whole-souled word of greeting to the old lady in a shawl who sells you your paper, or the smile of comradeship which you give the conductor who punches your ticket, or the elevator man who takes you up to your office (fellow workers all). It is not giving that counts, not the bestowal of something valued in dollars and cents, the transference of something from your hand to another's.

That is a purely mechanical process, which may or may not create happiness. No; it is the longing to give, the desire to be the cause of another's happiness.

To wish to help others is the oldest passion in the world—even a little older than the impulse to overcome others. And it is the deathless passion as well. It needs no Christmas day to keep it alight, but as long as Christmas continues to provide fuel to make the flame of good fellowship burn brighter, that day will continue to be the richest 24 hours in all the year.

Santa Claus' Books

WHEN the evening shadows gather and the time is eight o'clock
You can hear, if you will listen, Mr.
Sand Man's gentle knock.
Then you'd better hustle lively—time your evening prayers were said.
And each boy and girl well tucked in their cozy, downy little bed.
For when Mr. Sand Man's knocking sounds the signal, you may know Santa Claus is closely watching from his palace built of snow.
And the children that are naughty and don't mind their ma's and pa's Get their names down in the "Bad Book"
that is kept by Santa Claus.
Boys who never split the kindling, and the girls who always cry
When they're asked to wash the dishes—
Santa Claus has got his eye
On such boys and girls, and watches with a sad and sorry look
As he writes each name in sorrow on the pages of his book.
And the girl who never hurries, but lets mamma do the work,
And the boy who's always scheming all his little chores to shirk—
They may think no one pays notice when they don't help ma's and pa's
But their names are on the "Bad Book"
that is kept by Santa Claus.
But old Santa keeps a "Good Book"—it's the bestest book of all,
Where he writes the names of children who are prompt at duty's call,
And the boys who split the kindling and the girls who never shirk
But rise early in the morning and help mamma with the work;
And the boys who never grumble when there's work for them to do,
And the girls who help their mammas till the housework is all through—Oh, they needn't ever worry when it's Christmas time, because All their names are in the "Good Book"
that is kept by Santa Claus.
Is your name down in the "Bad Book?"
Well, there is still a chance for you.
And if you will listen to me, I will tell you what to do.
Don't act naughty, don't talk rudely, don't be noisy, be polite;
Get up early in the morning, and into bed early at night.
Cheerfully perform each duty, do your work before you play.
Never put off till tomorrow work that should be done today.
If you do these things, dear children,
It will please your ma's and pa's.
And your names go in the "Good Book"
that is kept by Santa Claus.

Early Christmas Morning

FOUR little feet patter on the floor,
Two tangle-curl'd heads peering in at the door,
Hear the merry laughter o'er the chimney's roar,
Early Christmas morning.

Two little stockings full of sweets and toys,
Everything so charming for little girls and boys.
How could they help, then, making such a dreadful noise
Early Christmas morning?

Down beside the stockings many gifts were spread,
Dollies, drums, a cradle, and a brand new sled;
"Haven't we too many?" little Nellie said,
Early Christmas morning.

Four little bare feet on the sidewalk cold,
Two little faces with want and hunger old,
Peeping through the window where those gifts were rolled;
Early Christmas morning.

"Yes," says John to Nellie, as he spies the two,
"We've so many presents—tell you what we'll do:
I'll give half of mine away. Now, dear Nell, will you?"
Early Christmas morning

Two little hungry ones into the house were called,
Fingers heaped upon them till they stood enthralled.
Was not this the angels' song, "Peace, goodwill to all!"
Early Christmas morning! — Mary B. Peck

EVERY one when sending a Christmas gift desires it to appear as attractive as possible. When we receive a gift nicely wrapped with tissue paper and decorated with pretty Christmas seals, there is an added pleasure. This is especially so when we realize that the sender has spent time and cleverness to give this little touch of personal thoughtfulness.

Many varieties of Christmas seals may be purchased, but a little originality will not come amiss even in these small details.

There are seals for the outside package and the heading to be used on the note paper, conveying the good wishes of the giver, or on the little card of greeting. These two in each set match. This gives another touch of the unusual, which is always sought after.

Have a piece of carbon paper, place it over the note paper, card or seal, and on top of this one of the designs.
Carefully trace with a sharp pencil the entire outline. An exact duplicate of the design will be found on the note paper or seal ready for tinting.
This may be easily done with water colors or wax crayons. Poinsettia should be colored a warm, bright red, with yellow centers and dark green stems.

Holly, the special emblem of this season, has berries of vivid, fiery red and glossy leaves of dark green.

A dainty basket of forget-me-nots would be pretty colored yellow, the flowers a faint light blue and the bow-knot of pale pink. Now we have the mystic sign of the holidays, borrowed from the Druids, the mistletoe. The berries of this plant are a pearly white and the leaves a yellowish green.

Spend a little extra time giving the Christmas gift this novel decoration, and the pleasure it affords will never cause you to regret having done so.

Economy is to be considered at Christmas time. Our purse-strings have been stretched to the breaking point purchasing gifts for relatives and friends. To put this fascinating bit of handiwork upon the Christmas package costs comparatively nothing, aside from the time you spend doing it. This fact counts very little when we add to the enjoyment of others.

These few suggestions will probably cause endless ideas for the Christmas package to present themselves to you.
Make your gifts radiate the holiday spirit; give this little bit of personality and attractiveness to as small a thing as the Christmas seal.

Christmas Packages.

A woman whose Christmas packages never fail to reach their destination in safety says she always writes the name and address of the recipient upon the inside wrapper of the box containing them. Packages sometimes lose their outside wrappings, but if the postal clerks can find the address on the inside wrapping all will be well. This woman also ties up the inside wrapping securely before putting on the outside cover.

OLD YULETIDE CAROLS

"Holy Night" Regarded as One of Most Beautiful Songs.

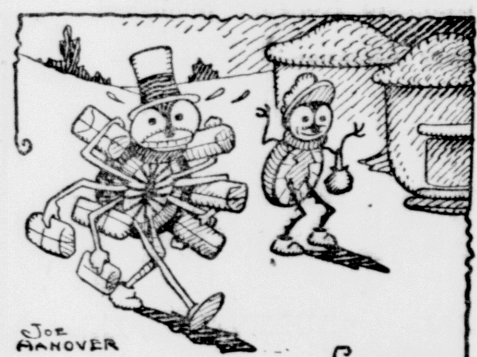

"Draw Nigh, Immanuel," One of Oldest Pieces and Far Antedates Any Others.

THE ancient Christmas carol, "Holy Night" is German in its origin and is considered by many persons to be the most beautiful of all Christmas carols. It has sometimes been ascribed to Martin Luther, but the consensus of expert opinion is that it is much older than his time and is one of the oldest of German folk songs. The carol "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," is English in its origin and dates back to about the beginning of the Seventeenth century, although the author of the words and the composer of the music are unknown. The fine old melody sung to this poem possesses all the best qualifications of a sterling hymn tune and will probably last as long as the verses with which it is always associated.

The carol "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," is one of the oldest pieces of coherent music in existence, and both the words and music far antedate any of the others. The music is an old French melody, dated from the Thirteenth century, although, of course, it has been harmonized to conform with more modern standards.

There is a most curious but beautiful musical effect at the close of this carol. The words of "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," are about 100 years older than the music, being taken from the Mozarabic breviary of the Twelfth century, and it is generally believed that they were taken from the liturgy of the early Christians at Toledo, Spain, where the Mozarabic breviary was formulated.

Another carol, "The First Noel," has a traditional French melody and probably originated in Breton, although the exact origin of this fine old song is somewhat in doubt.

Christmas Again

Christmas again, and hearts aglow
And songs and merry times;
New friends to make, old friends to greet,
And over all the silver-sweet
Unchanging Christmas chimes.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND

Crowing of the Cock to Keep Away Evil Spirits.

Tale of Saint Stephen, the First Martyr, Whose Day is December Twenty-Six.

EVER since that first Christmas eve the cock has crowed all night long on the anniversary to keep away evil spirits; for the cock is a holy bird and a knowing one. There is a pleasant tale of him and Saint Stephen, the first martyr, whose day is December 26, close by his dear Lord's.

Saint Stephen was King Herod's steward, it seems, who served him in the kitchen and at table. One night as he was bringing in the board's head for his master's dinner he saw the Star shining over Bethlehem. Immediately he set down the huge platter and exclaimed:

"No longer, Herod, will I be thy servant, for a greater King than thou is born."

"What alleth thee?" cried the King wrathfully. "Do you lack meat or drink that you would desert my service for another's?"

"Nay," answered Stephen. "I lack neither meat nor drink. But the Child that is born this night is greater than all of us; and Him only will I serve."

"That is as true," quoth Herod, smiting the table with his fist, "as that this roast cock on the platter shall crow before us."

Hardly were the words out of his mouth when the cock stretched his neck and crowed lustily, "Christus natus est!" At this proof that Stephen's words were true, Herod was so angry that he made his soldiers take Stephen outside the walls of Jerusalem and stone him to death. And this is the reason why, unto this day, Saint Stephen is the patron of stone-cutters. —Able Farwell Brown, in Lippincott's Magazine.

Cleansing the Saucepan.

Here is a simple but most successful method of cleansing a saucepan in which milk has been boiled. After pouring out the boiling milk, quickly replace the lid before the steam has time to escape, and allow the saucepan to cool before taking it off again. Then put the pan in cold water to soak. It can be cleaned quickly and easily.

CHRISTMAS IN 1621

Rebuke Administered to New England Observers of Day.

Young Men Who Had Arrived on Little Ship Fortune Reprimanded for Festivities.

IT WAS in 1621 that Governor Bradford was called upon to administer a rebuke to some of the young men of the New England colony who had just come over on the little ship Fortune, and who wanted to celebrate the holiday, the Detroit News recalls. Puritanism brought over with it in the Mayflower the anti-Christmas feeling, and when the group of lusty youngsters attempted to observe the day they were sharply criticized by the colony.

The men were called out to work that day as on other days, but the newcomers declared it against their consciences to work on Christmas day. The governor left them and led away the rest of the workers. But when he returned at noon, the young men were in the street at play—some pitching the bar and some playing stool ball. He took away their implements and told them it was against his conscience that they should play while others worked, and that they could observe the day within doors, but there should be no reveling in the streets.

On the day in question a tree was chopped down and dragged into one of the rough cabins where it was trimmed with cranberries and popcorn, while the young people feasted their eyes on its beauties. These "revelries" were frowned upon by the majority of the colonists and in 1659 the general court of Massachusetts enacted a law that made any person observing Christmas day liable to a fine of "five shillings." The law was repealed in 1861.

Placecards

Next after decorating the table comes the question of placecards. These may be as simple or as elaborate as you like, but you really should have them! You might cut white cardboard into small round pieces. Give each an irregularly outlined border of green and at the top of this little make-believe Christmas wreath punch a small hole, through it draw red baby ribbon, and tie in a bow. The name is written in the center.

THE ROSE OF JERICHO

Pilgrims Told of Its Power to Bloom on Christmas Day.

Blossom Given the Name of Resurrection Flower; Also Called St. Mary's Rose.

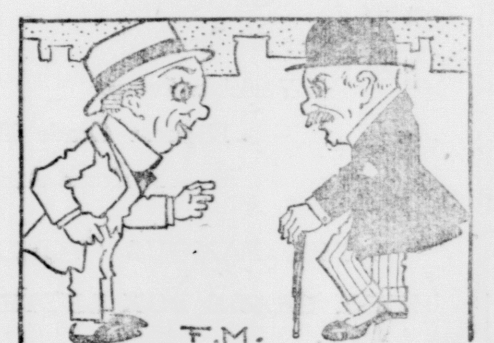

SEVERAL varieties of the so-called resurrection plant have appeared among the novelties offered by florists, but the original is the rose of Jericho. Along the shores of the Dead sea, far enough away to be out of reach of the death-dealing vapors and the salt spray, grows this rose, a little plant famed in many a legendary story, which, when ripened, rolls up its sprays and branches into a curious little brown ball.

The desert winds snap off its dry stem and whirl the seemingly dead little ball away over sandy plains, like a feather-weight. After it chances to reach some damp place, in about ten days, the moisture has wrought a miracle for the once dead is alive again, green and growing.

The old-time pilgrims, who brought back this plant with them from the Holy Land, told wonderful tales of its power to bloom out on Christmas day and gave it the name of resurrection flower. Another old legend names it from every spot where they halted to rest.

The dry ball when unfolding drops its seeds, and from these it may be cultivated as an annual. To resurrect these dry balls it is simply necessary to keep them standing in glasses of water, immersed about halfway to the top of their branches. The expansion is merely a mechanical spongelike process.

The botanical name of the rose of Jericho is anastatica, from anastasis, resurrection. There are other species of resurrection plants, but they are not so attractive as their Dead sea relative, which, although it has very little beauty, has an honored place among flowers because of the many fancies and associations it calls up and its peculiar development. —Argus.

The DAY DREAMS of the OLD FOLKS AT CHRISTMAS

by Frank L. Stanton

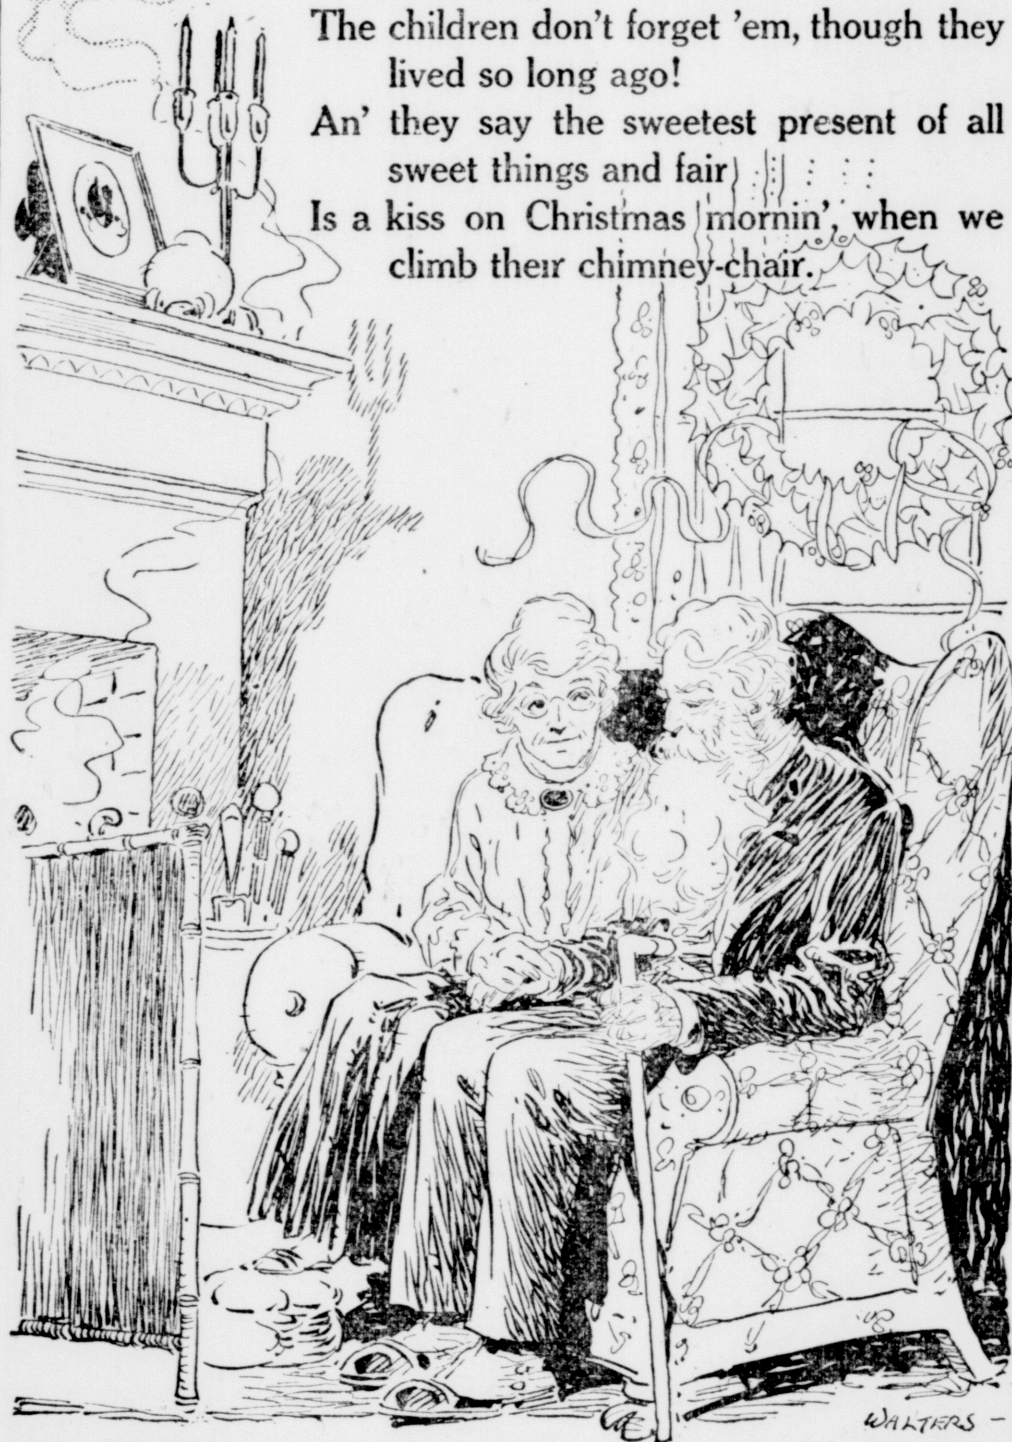

Old folks, too, like Christmas; Grandfather, sitting there,
Feels sad if he's forgotten 'cause he's in his chimney-chair;
He says he's thinkin' of the days that he no more will see,
When he was just a little boy—a Christmas boy—like me.

He listens to the fire—for it's always talkin' so,
And then it is he calls to mind his good times long ago
When the Christmas wind was whistlin' through the cold and frosty nights
And children dreamed of Christmas bells and watched for Christmas lights.

He doesn't seem to hear at all the noise the children make,
For when he sits the stillest there he's dreamin' wide awake!
But mother—then she tells us to all run right out and play,
For old folks hear sweet music when they're dreamin' day by day.

And then Grandmother—SHE comes in and sits beside him there,
And puts her hand in his, and says sweet words he loves to hear;
But what they are she'd never tell to mother or to you;
She knows that he is dreamin', for she dreams the same dreams, too.

So Christmas comes to old folks, and it's then they love to know
The children don't forget 'em, though they lived so long ago!
An' they say the sweetest present of all sweet things and fair
Is a kiss on Christmas mornin' when we climb their chimney-chair.

THE CHRISTMAS TABLE

Little Things That Add Much to Success of Home Day.

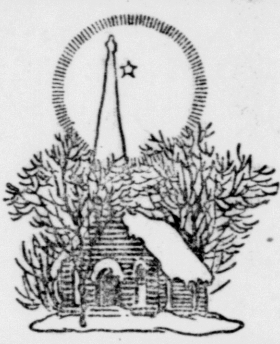

How the Housewife Can Prepare Delicacies That Will Appeal to Both Old and Young.

THE housewife can indulge in these exclusive imaginings, however, only in the earliest of her preparations for the Christmas dinner, says Country Life in America. Soon she must closely consider the feast which will be suitable to her own household and purse. If she is a wise housewife, she will not make her festival over-elaborate, whatever the size of her income. She will want something more than "wine and wafers and a rose," but she will find that, if she puts her own best efforts into the decorations, and caters with a thought for the tastes and fancies and little memories of those she is to serve, she will have a charming dinner, whatever the number of its courses.

mas dinner depends upon small things. This is the occasion for the most choice of the jelly and pickles which have been stored up in the summer. Of course, there must be celery and cranberry sauce, and the housewife will, if possible, have some small thing that is new to her household—a little luxury that comes in glass, if the cost must not be heavy, or, if she need not think of that, some far-fetched dainty with the international interest of coming from Japan or from the Philippines.

Dessert allows ample opportunity for small pleasures and surprises. One can hardly believe a child's happiness complete without raisins and almonds to eat in tiny sandwiches and as philopenas. One always hopes to see the old-fashioned kinds of candy at Christmas—striped sticks and clear sticks, and barley sugar, chocolate creams, and gum-drops. They are pretty for the table, and not bad for children, and older people like them for the sake of long-ago Christmas.

Plenty of Mistletoe. The mistletoe supply is plentiful this year, but, as the girls say, what of it?

A YULE MESSAGE

Christmas Spirit, Peace and Good Will Should Prevail.

Time to Be Happy and to Aid Others in the Enjoyment of the Season's Cheer.

On earth, peace, good will.—Luke 2:14.

SURELY there is a mystic tie between spirit and nature, between heaven and earth, between God and man. Not strange is it, then, that on the night of the most wondrous birth time has seen, the age sealed skies should part and song of angels entrance the watchers on Bethlehem's plains.

What is the secret of the unwonted charm brought by this brightest day in time's calendar? Why is the season charged with such gladness? Why do men and women feel that they can lay down their vexing burdens and their faces smile again with the faith and joy of childhood's care-free days?

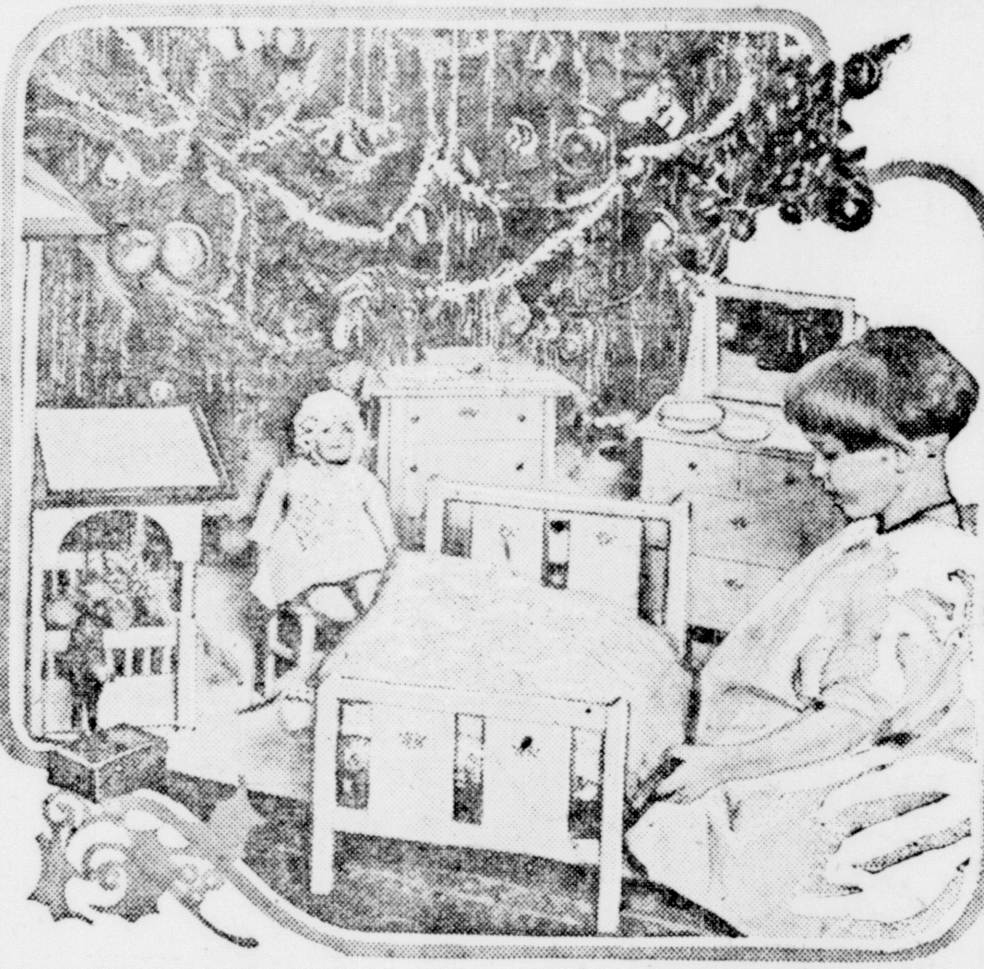

It is the rapid influence of the angelic song on the natal night, "Peace on Earth." To a humanity distracted, troubled by doubts and fears, wounded by sin and smitten by conscience, God sends a message: "Fear not, I am your Father. I give you a Savior from sin and misery. You are my children. My heavenly peace I breathe upon you." And in this sweet pledge of divine remembrance and Fatherly love—of God at peace with men—a wave of tranquil joy floods the world.

But, again, it is an evangel to man of peace with himself. Every man finds discord in his own being. His innermost personality is the seat of antagonisms. He is an instrument out of tune. The primal harmony of his spirit is broken. He is at war with himself. His baser strives with his higher nature. Soul and body war against each other. But "on earth peace," chants the seraphic choir. Regard the image of God stamped upon you. Put down the low and base. Let the spirit rule and the body serve.

Finally, the Christmaside should breathe the spirit of peace in our business and in all the relations of life. Especially in our homes we can cultivate the Christmas spirit, displacing their frequent discontents, fault findings and contentions with peace and good will.

For this glad time, at least, let us all be better men and women; less selfish, more kindly, easier to live with. And how much happier will we be if this Christmas spirit—its cheery glow and kindly warmth—stay with us all through the year!—Junius B. Remensnyder.

THE HOLY MANGER

"Prespio," Instead of Christmas Tree, in Italy and Spain.

It is Representation of the Place Where Baby Christ Lay in Bethlehem.

GIRLS and boys of Italy and Spain, which are called the Latin countries, never hang up their stockings at Christmas time, nor do they have Christmas trees. Kris Kringle and Santa Claus are German saints and the Christmas tree came out of the German forests long, long ago, when the nations of northern Europe were forest tribes. It is the northern peoples—the Germans, Scandinavians and English, all of whom are descended from old Teutonic tribes—who keep Christmas as Americans do.

Instead of the Christmas tree, Italian and Spanish boys and girls have the prespio. "Prespio" means manger, and it is a representation of the manger where the baby Christ lay in Bethlehem. It is presented in different ways. Sometimes it shows only the inside of the barn where the Baby and His mother lay, with Joseph, the Three Wise Men and the animals about. Sometimes it shows a hillside, with the Wise Men coming on foot or horseback, or on donkeys, bringing their gifts to the stable. Sometimes the manger is small—not more than a foot square. Sometimes it is large enough to occupy the whole end of a room. It is built on a board foundation and is made of wood, with earth, pebbles, dried grass and leaves for the outdoor scenes. The figures are carved of wood, or perhaps little dolls are used, all very carefully and elaborately dressed by the girls. Sometimes brooks and lakes are ingeniously represented with paper, glass or isinglass. Sometimes the whole is rough and rude, but again it is very neatly and beautifully done, and is quaint and interesting when all complete.

The French, who are half Latin and half Teutonic in their makeup, mix the customs of both races in their Christmas keeping. They build the manger and they also give the children presents; only, instead of hanging her stocking, little French Babette puts out her shoes. The French call the manger "creche," and in country villages in France companies of children still go from house to house on Christmas eve, carrying the creche and singing Christmas carols. Sometimes they help to build a beautiful large creche in the village church, over which they are very proud and delighted.

HAS TONIC EFFECT

Christmas Day Pleasures Are of Benefit to People.

Mental State Does Everybody Good and Festivity Equals Prescription of Physician.

CLOSE observers in the ranks of the medical profession have noted one very interesting fact concerning the Christmas season—that it generally has a good tonic effect upon their patients. In explanation of this the London Lancet says that since Christmas has come to be regarded as a time for good cheer, a universal feeling of contentment and happiness is engendered at this time of joyousness, routine is for a while relieved, a certain freshness is given to the daily round, differences of opinion are sunk, and a charitable spirit prevails. Is it, by the way, hoping for too much, asks the Lancet, that the season of good fellowship should leave some lasting effect upon the manners and methods of all?

It may not be easy to trace exactly why the sense of exhilaration and well-being comes with the advent of Christmas, for the psychological factors concerned are not simple. But the main point is that the mental state does everybody good, and the annual festivity is just as excellent an institution as the prescription of the physician which gives tone and vigor to the struggler in life's race. There is no need nowadays, thanks to the good sense of the people and the counsels of their medical advisers, to moralize about the evils of a stupid indulgence in food, alcohol and tobacco on a festive occasion such as the present. Practically everybody realizes the great physiological advantages of being wise on a merry occasion.

Many more persons than formerly feel where use ends and abuse begins, and they act sensibly accordingly; and so far from it being a crime to make the season festive by enjoying, on a little extended scale perhaps, the creature comforts of life, some decided good is done to both the mental and physical health of the individual.

The festive season may, therefore, be welcomed, which brings cheer to thousands, which induces the generous and charitable to brace the mental and physical functions of the community at large, giving it the opportunity of relinquishing its business and its worries for a time, to start again refreshed and ready for "the trivial round, the common task." The prescription "A Merry Christmas" is sound so long as the "signature" of good sense is observed.

CHRISTMAS TOKENS OF LOVE.

WHEN any uncertainty exists let us give a token of love, or friendship, or human kindness, something that, while expressing these things will, at least, be harmless. Let it be something that does not last—that brings the meaning and vanishes—something that never will know the indignity of the top shelf of the spare room closet!

A knock at a friend's door on Christmas morning and the clasp of a hand do this. A growing plant does it—but, most of all, thou beside me, singing in the wilderness—the personal revelation does it. Suppose a letter came on Christmas morning, to say—not "you are perfectly dear to have sent me a spool box," but "I want you to know that your patience, or courage, or tenderness, during this last year, will help me to live more bravely and courageously and lovingly this next year!" What a Christmas present the receipt of such a letter would be to any one of us! What a Christmas present for any one of us to send to the human heart that has given us courage for the burden and heat of the day!—Indianapolis News.

JOY OF CHRISTMAS

Season Proves That Men and Women Are Friendly Beings.

Desire to Make Presents and to Be Cheerful Shows People Wish to Be Congenial.

ONE of the finest things about Christmas is its truthness, the joyous reality of it. At Christmas time no exhortation is necessary to make it go; Christmas never has to be made a "success," as a parade or a pageant.

Christmas is in a certain sense an institution; it comes at a certain date each year; it always has its Christmas tree, its stocking, its poultry dinner colored with cranberries. But it is one of those institutions that has never been institutionalized; it exists in the nature of man.

Christmas proves to us that men, women and children are at heart friendly beings. The spontaneity of Christmas giving and Christmas cheer proves what people really want to be—good friends.

Wars go on at other times; men and women quarrel among themselves over property or over other men and women; artificial requirements are imposed that incite to greed, dishonesty and bitterness. But at Christmas time there comes over the broad surface of our western civilization, which is pretty much like other civilizations, a great reversion to type. Man wants most to be happy, he wants to dance and sing and to make other persons happy. At other times than Christmas something seems to be wrong, and man reasons that someone else is to blame.

At Christmas time there is a general forgetting of everything but being natural. Christmas is the great annual armistice of that portion of humanity that has come to be segregated under the name of Christendom.

Christmas is the finest thing that has come out of Christianity, because it is the friendliest thing. Men and women are not naturally and healthily meddlers; the best part of their lives and the most of their happiness does not come from the tyrannies they exercise or the repressions they set up or the reformatory cruelties they inflict on others.

At Christmas time men and women forget to be anything but children again.

Perhaps some day there will be a sort of Christmas every day of the year. Perhaps men and women will be able to forget more often and more completely, and thereby live more completely, the elimination of bitterness and artificial antagonisms being both the cause and the effect of this happy state.

Perhaps one of the lessons of Christmas is that we have more to forget than to learn.—Detroit News.

VERY USEFUL

"Say, wouldn't Mr. Spider be useful to tie up bundles during the Christmas rush?"

Imperative.

Crawford—Does your wife beg you for Christmas money?

Crabshaw—I wouldn't put it exactly that way. She issues an ultimatum.—Judge.

Little Johnny's Fears

WHERE we use' to live, we had A fireplace big an' wide, An' all that Santy had to do Was hold his breath an' slide, An' squeeze hisself until he fit The hole, an' then est drop— An' he knowed where the stockin's was, 'Cause that was where he'd stop.

Where we use' to live, it was No trick for him to climb Up to the chimney on the roof An' find us, Christmas time; But now I'm worryin' for fear He won't know where he's at, Or mebbe can't get in at all! We're livin' in a flat!

We're livin' in a flat, an' say, You mus' be most polite, Or else the janitor he'll go An' lock you out at night! There ain't no chimney to our house, Where Santy Claus can slide— There ain't no fireplace—just a pipe About two inches wide.

They heat our flat with steam—that's why I'm afraid he can't get in With all his toys an' drums an' things, Unless he's awful thin; An' how's he go' to wriggle out When he gets in? Gee whiz! There's such an awful little hole There where the sizzle is! —Chicago Tribune.

HOLLY MAY SOON BE EXTINCT

Popular Christmas Decoration Is Growing Less Bountiful Each Year, According to Reports.

Christmas holly, that merriest and most beloved of all growing bushes, is threatened with extinction, according to a warning sounded by lovers of a red Christmas. Once growing profusely in southern New Jersey and Maryland, it has been swept from those states by the ruthless cutters for the city markets, and must now be sought in the swamps of Virginia and North Carolina, where already the supply is growing less bountiful each year. The Gulf states have been similarly shorn to make holiday for the large cities.

Within another generation, botanists say, holly will be as rare as mistletoe, which used to grow in abundance on the Atlantic seaboard, as far north as Raritan Bay, but has now practically ceased to exist as a Christmas decoration. When will the American people learn that the bounty of their fields and woodlands is not limitless? With sinking hearts nature lovers have long since recorded the disappearance of the delicate trailing arbutus, flower of the Pilgrim maidens, from all woods near large cities. The mountain laurel, which once swept the hills of June with pale pink drifts like naughty clouds running away from the sunset, has now retreated to the remote mountain sides.—New York Tribune.

The Rag Doll's Christmas

HERE was once a very, very old rag doll who lived in a nursery. She was so old that she had seen all the children grow up—the boy who wore trousers now, the girl who had her hair done in braids, the middle-sized child who had so often left the rag doll out in the garden at night. There was only the baby left—bless his pink toes!

But the rag doll was very, very old, and one beautiful Christmas time she began to show her age. Her hair had been combed so much that it had come out dreadfully, and her nose, from a great deal of kissing, was entirely gone. Her pretty pink cheeks had been washed away when the boy tried to teach her to swim in the bath tub, and all her clothes were very untidy indeed.

The baby never noticed all these things, but the toys did; they all made the most unkind remarks to the rag doll the day before Christmas.

"Look at your dirty face," said the large French doll. "You'll be put in the attic tonight. That's where the old dolls go." "Look at your dress," said the jumping jack. "It is all torn. I wouldn't walk across the nursery floor with you."

"Did you ever see such thin hair?" asked the hobby horse. "I thought my tail was thin, but it isn't to be compared with that!"

But just then the nursery door opened, and the Christmas Angel came in. You could be perfectly sure that it was the Christmas Angel even if she did have on a gingham apron, because her face shone so through the dark.

"The French doll must go up to the attic," said the Christmas Angel. "There is a more beautiful new best doll coming."

"Why, the jack-in-the-box has forgotten how to jump."

You see the jack-in-the-box had been so excited about the rag doll's dress that he had broken his spring.

"The jack-in-the-box must go up to the attic, too," said the Christmas Angel.

Then she went over to the hobby horse.

"Poor, old hobby-horse!" she said. "Your leg is very badly broken. I will take you up to the attic until you can be mended."

"There," the Christmas Angel said at last, "the nursery is all tidy, and ready for new toys—but, dear me, what's this? Why, it is the little rag doll!"

"Oh, please, do I have to go to the attic, too?" said the rag doll. "It's very cold there, and I know the best doll will have the chimney corner for herself—and I don't want the nice to gnaw my toes!"

"Why, you dear old thing!" said the Christmas Angel. "You're the same rag doll that I used to play with when I was little. You go to the attic? Why, I just guess not! We couldn't get along without you in the nursery. You do need a little mending, but I am going to sew you, and then you shall sit on the very tippity of the Christmas tree."

The Christmas Angel lighted one of the Christmas candles so that she could see to sew. Then she took the rag doll in her lap and opened her workbag and set to work.

First she stuffed the rag doll's insides with plenty of cotton so she could sit up. Then she sewed her toes and put new little white stockings and black shoes on her feet. She took a piece of clean, white cloth and covered the rag doll's dirty face, and painted in blue eyes and a smiling red mouth and vermilion cheeks. She sewed on a new yellow wig; and then she made a pink- and- white checked gingham dress with puffed sleeves and a white apron with strings to keep the dress clean, and a pink- and- white checked sunbonnet to tie under the rag doll's chin and keep her hair tidy.

"I think you will do now, you dear old thing," said the Christmas Angel.

So it came Christmas morning, and there on the tippity of the tree sat the rag doll quite made over. The children thought her really the most beautiful of all the Christmas things. As for the rag doll herself—why, all the pleasure of her old days was as nothing to the happiness that was hers now.—Carolyn S. Bailey, in Kindergarten Review.

AFRAID OF SANTA

Black Tots at African Mission Make for Place of Safety.

Presents of Apparel and Sweets Bring Confidence to the Men, Women and Kiddies.

AN AMUSING story of how Santa Claus frightened the black children at a mission station when he first appeared to them a few years ago, is told by the wife of a missionary stationed at Ballunda, Africa. They had celebrated Christmas at Ballunda before, but they never had had Santa Claus; so Mr. Stover, the missionary, dressed up as good Saint Nick.

"He had been padded and powdered and packed until his own mother would not have known him," Mrs. Stover afterward related. "Presently we gave the signal, the door flew open and in walked Santa Claus. But, dear me! What consternation! He was greeted with shrieks and groans and cries of 'Let me out! It is the evil one. It is the day of judgment!'"

"The urchins, catching the infection of terror from the older black people, fled to their bedrooms, fell down upon their faces, crept under chairs and tables—anywhere to hide themselves. Poor old Santa Claus never had such a greeting before. As soon as he realized the panic he had caused, he tore off his 'sail hat' and white cotton beard. Then from the bags on his back he began to throw gifts right and left and to tell who he was.

"Reassured once more, everyone was soon laughing and chatting, munching the great 'red breads' (doughnuts), tasting their fruits or nibbling at the sweets from the familiar little bags. One man wondered which end up he was to hold the fork Santa Claus had given him. Another immediately tried on his new shirt. The girls arranged their bright-hued handkerchiefs into turbans, while others sought to find some place about their scanty clothing where they could stow away their bunch of bread, as well as the paper of needles and cake of soap given to each.

"It seemed as though everyone tried to talk louder than his neighbor as they examined the costume of Santa Claus, whom they now no longer feared. One man said that he thought it was John the Baptist; another that it was Elijah returned. Yet another thought it was Satan himself.

In hanging pictures don't "sky them." A picture should be hung so that its center comes just on a level with a person of average height.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

Birth of the Christ Child Announced by Angel.

Good Tidings of Great Joy to All the People in Coming of the Savior.

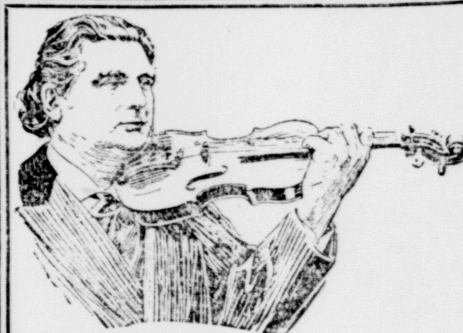

NOW it came to pass in those days, there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment made when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went to enroll themselves, every one to his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and family of David, to enroll himself with Mary, who was betrothed to him, being great with child. And it came to pass, while they were there, the days were fulfilled that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her first-born son; and she wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock. And an angel of the Lord stood by them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Be not afraid; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people: for there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this is the sign unto you: Ye shall find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men in whom he is well pleased.

THE SANTA PARTY

How Lots of Christmas Fun May Be Had by Boys' Club.

Each Lad Provides One Present, Made by Himself, for Old Kris Kringle's Bag.

THE biggest boy in the club should be the Santa Claus. To dress him up, borrow a bath robe, and trim it round the collar and cuffs with some old fur. A big fur cap is the thing for Santa Claus' head, and a great big bag should be provided for him to hang over his shoulder to carry the presents in. A paper mask for Santa can be bought at some small store for about twenty cents, and a big beard can be made of excelsior, tied up so as to stay in place. If the excelsior can be dyed gray all the better.

Each boy in the club should provide one present for Santa's bag. It would be better if each boy should make the present himself. Good things for such presents are bean bags, baseballs, bats, shiny sticks, tops, marbles, short wooden swords, slings, putty blowers, jew's-harps, soap-bubble pipes, jack-stones, match-safes, candy, chewing gum, and so on.

All the presents for the Santa Claus party should be handed to a committee of three knights, whose duty it is to pack them all neatly in Santa Claus' bag. At the time of the party, the members of the club should gather together in the meeting room, and the committee may meet in a room near by with the big boy who is to be Santa Claus. They must dress him up and escort him to the club. When Santa comes in all will rise, and the president will say:

"Greeting, Santa Claus; the boys await you."

Santa may reply, "Greeting, my children."

Then Santa passes out the presents. It is best for the boys to form a line, and for Santa to reach in the bag without looking and pull out the first thing that comes to his hand. The last present in the bag is Santa Claus'. A good deal of amusement can be had at the party if a committee of five boys is chosen to look after the entertainment. A good plan is to get up shadow pictures. A sheet is hung up near one end of the room, about five feet from the wall. Behind the sheet, close to the wall and low down, is placed a strong light. The knights and others who are to be the audience all sit in front, and when everything is ready all lights except the one behind the sheet are put out. The boys who are to make the shadow pictures then go between the light and the sheet and cut up all sorts of antics, throwing large shadows on the sheet. If there is a boy who can make odd shadow pictures with his hands he can amuse the club for some time.

Another thing that makes fun at a Santa Claus party may be called the "boy orator." A large pair of boots is provided, and the boy orator puts his arms in these and stands back of a table, so that his booted arms may look like a pair of short legs and he appears to be a funny little man standing on the table. Another boy stands behind him, and puts his arms through under the orator's arms and makes the gestures while the orator delivers his speech. This can be made very funny if the orator learns a good speech and if the boy who makes the gestures waves his arms and makes very bad and inappropriate gestures. It is especially trying for the orator if the gesturer holds a handkerchief in his hands and wipes his face occasionally or waves it in triumph at inappropriate times.—The Delineator.

Present and Future.

The wise youth prepares for the future. But during the holiday whirl, He should also remember the present That's expected by his best girl.

FRANCE MUST BEAR BLAME

Group in Naval Committee Stands
Pat For Navy Larger Than Japan's—Ratio Suggested 1.7

(By United Press)

Paris, Dec. 17—France is opposed to the abolition of the submarines. She sees no reason why they should not have a navy as big as Japan. In these statements made semi-officially today, France takes a direct issue with Britain at the Washington arms conference.

Washington, Dec. 17—Premiers Lloyd George and Briand may have to take a hand in settling the starting situation stirred up by France's demand for a navy larger than Japan.

This was indicated today by some of the conferees while the navy sub-committee of 15 labored to get France in line. The French group in the committee stood pat on its demands for a navy larger than Japan.

The opening communique on the morning session noted merely the opening of the meeting and adjournment until eleven o'clock Monday morning. This indicated the committee-men were still unable to agree.

Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation at the meeting, answered as best he could the biting words of Balfour and Hughes in yesterday's meeting when they clearly let France understand she must bear the blame if disarmament fails now.

Hughes had definitely told France an adequate ratio would be 1.7.

The belief prevailed that France in the committee of fifteen meeting today would start to back down. Her stand is such a shock to all the other delegates that some observers believed an unfortunate diplomatic blunder had been committed by some one.

Feeling between the British and French has again become tense. The French now are charging the British with a breach of faith in revealing their naval program yesterday and the British reply that the French are out of sympathy now with the spirit of the conference.

CHOSEN FOR TOUR OF ONE YEAR IN EUROPE

Former Rushville Man Selected by
Boston University Because of His Scholarship

TO BE GRADUATED IN JUNE

Earl B. Marlatt, former instructor in the Rushville high school, has been selected, due to his scholarship, by Boston university, as one of two students in the University to represent the school in a year's observation work in Europe.

Mr. Marlatt, together with the other man named, will sail for England early in September, 1922, for the year's tour of the continent.

Mr. Marlatt is a student in the school of theology in the university and has made a splendid record, as the selection for the year's visit to Europe indicates. The two students names each year to represent the university are chosen purely on their records in scholarship. All of their expenses are paid by the university, and at the end of the year, they return and make a report of their observations.

Mr. Marlatt will be graduated from the school of theology in June. He is a brother of Mrs. J. H. Scholl and is well known in Rushville where he resided for several years.

Opportunity to Perform a Service at Christmas Time.

The opportunity to perform a real service to the community is staring someone in the face—and the accepted time to do it is at Christmas time.

The Salvation Army leader in Rushville is in very difficult straits for the want of some means of getting about, and it is his opinion—which is shared by many—that there may be some big-hearted person in Rush county who stands ready to give Envoy Ellis an automobile. It makes no difference to him what kind of a machine it is—or what condition it may be in. So it has four wheels and an engine that will run—that's the main thing.

Envoy Ellis is called on to make many visits outside of Rushville. He holds meetings at stated intervals at the county poor infirmary and at other points in the county. It is believed that an automobile would be of immense value to him and would increase his ability to serve.

Very recently the people of Fairmount, W. Va., raised a sum of money and bought the army leader a machine.

Santa Claus Almost In Mourning Because of Poor Showing of Friends

He is Hoping They Will Come to The Realization Next Week That Some Little Folks Will be Disappointed
if They Don't Step Into the Breath.

Santa Claus was almost in mourning today because of the way his old friends have deserted him.

With just a week to go, the Daily Republican-Salvation Army Christmas fund was not half of the sum raised last year—and the need is just as great as it was last year, too.

There are just six more days to give and the contributions will have to average close to $50 a day in order for the fund to approach the total for Christmas in 1920.

There was a lull in the giving and no report was made Friday, so that the list today includes two days' contributions, amounting in all to less than $34. More than half of this sum came from the Salvation Army kettle, which is doing valiant service on the streets daily. A new record for this year was established Thursday when the kettle yielded $11.

friends came to the rescue and cheered the old man up a little, but he can't help but be downcast because of the failure of some of the old reliables to respond.

He is hoping, of course, that they will come to a realization of the fact that some children will be disappointed Christmas morning if they don't do their bit—and will boost the total next week.

The names of one hundred and eighty-one children in forty-seven different homes have been reported by the investigators for the fund as being without hope of any Christmas

FIGHTING FOLLOWS APPROVAL OF TREATY

Score or More Persons Wounded in Gun Battles in Streets of Belfast

OUTBREAK IS WORST YET

Belfast, Dec. 17.—A score or more persons were wounded in gun battles in the streets of Belfast following the approval by the British parliament of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

A sixteen year old girl and a thirteen year old boy were among those shot by Ulster and Sinn Fein gunmen who lodged themselves in places of hiding in street intersections and alleys, pouring fire into the streets. The militia attacked the gunmen in armored cars and finally drove them from their places of vantage.

Throughout the night fighting continued in various sections of the city. The first serious outbreak followed the firing of shots during which several were wounded. The outbreak was by far the most serious of the last month of peace negotiations and the militia attempted to prevent the spreading of the disturbances.

Sheppard Refused Clemency

ACTION BY PARDON BOARD

Five prisoners, sentenced from Rush county, were refused pardons or paroles by Governor McCray, and the matter of a parole for Victor Ellerman was continued until some further meeting of the board.

The prisoners who were refused paroles were Boaz Demaree, James Martin, Fred and Edward Beemer and Russell Sheppard. Demaree was sentenced on April 23, 1920, two to fourteen years, on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony. The other four were sentenced September 23, 1920, for a term of 2 to 14 years on a charge of store breaking, being convicted of entering the Knecht clothing store here.

Demaree was sentenced to the State Prison and the remaining four were given sentences at the reformatory. Although they were sentenced from here, none lived in Rush county. Demaree resided in Greensburg, Sheppard and the two Beemer brothers lived in Muncie and Martin lived in Winchester.

In the twelve consolidated schools of Rush county, the Homer school in Walker township and the Moscow school in Orange township tied for first in the percentage of attendance for the first three months of the school term, with an average of 99.1 at each school.

The Moscow school in reality made a better showing on account of the larger number of pupils enrolled, with 175 as against 119 in the Homer school. The Homer school had eight tardies while there were seven in the Moscow school.

Glenwood ranked lowest of the consolidated schools with a percent of 97.4; but even at that, the figures for attendance is above most schools in the state and the average for the twelve consolidated schools was 98.2 percent.

The report, which was compiled by County School Superintendent W. E. Waggoner, shows that there are 2,146 pupils enrolled in the consolidated schools, which includes the grades and high schools of the twelve townships.

The Rushville township school, commonly called the Webb school, ranked with the best record for tardies during the first three months of school, when only two pupils were late. The school lost ten minutes time as the result of the tardies.

Raleigh topped the list with tardies when 54 pupils were late and caused the school to lose 617 minutes.

Several matters were taken up in the circuit court this morning, with considerable time being devoted to the evidence in the suit of Cora Six against John Sherman Addison, a complaint for $5,000 damages, as the result of charges filed against the defendant, alleging paternity proceedings.

Only a portion of the evidence was heard this morning and the remainder will be heard next Saturday. The defense alleges that at the time the arrest was made, he was a resident of Madison county, and that the action would be outlawed.

The divorce suit of Cassius Smith against Wilhelmina Smith, has been dismissed by the plaintiff. In the divorce case heard recently of Clara Duke against Ernest Duke, a decree was granted the plaintiff.

The case of Callie H. Carr against the estate of Mary M. Parsons, was heard this morning and judgment in the sum of $420.86 was rendered on the complaint, which was a claim against the estate.

The suit of Frank M. Rardin, et al., against Marie Dissolkoen, et al., a complaint to contest a will, was up in court yesterday and the evidence submitted, in which the court made a finding and judgment as per a decree prepared and agreed upon by the two parties.

ALL MERCHANDISE IS CHEAPER

Heavy Decline in Toys Especially,
Some Dropping 100 Percent—
Christmas Meal to Cost Less

Practically every business firm in Rushville will have to do more business this year, and especially during the next week, in order to bring their sales up to records established last year and the year before, according to reports of several of the owners of local stores, which is due to the decline in price of merchandise in almost every line of business.

Buyers looking over the toys find possibly the greatest drop in prices than over any other article. Some toys have dropped 100 percent from last year, and no other item took such a tumble this year than did dolls, which are one-half last year's price, according to several local dealers.

One dealer stated that he would probably lose several hundred dollars on dolls this year, on account of his carrying over a stock from last year, which he is forced to sell the dolls this year, on account of his carrying over a stock from last year, which he is to sell at the new prices.

The reason for the big decline in toys this year is assigned to the fact that German-made goods are again flooding the market, forcing the American-made toys out of the way on account of the price. The shelves of the toy stores are lined with German-made toys this Christmas in Rushville, the first time since the war.

The kid body dolls were pointed out at one of the stores as an example of the big drop this year. The supply came in from Germany, and dolls which sold last year as high as $8.00 can be bought today for $2.98.

There are more new toys on the market this year than ever before, and in the list mechanical toys take their place, as the German-made products show many novel ideas in toys that have motion.

There was a division of opinion

NO REHEARSAL ON HOLIDAYS

Community Orchestra Will Not
Meet After Sunday Until Jan. 8

The usual rehearsal of the Rushville community orchestra will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, instead of three, but the rehearsals will be omitted the next two Sundays on account of Christmas and New Years. The change in the time for the rehearsal Sunday was due to the request of several members who desired to get an earlier start.

Miss Sara I. McConnel, conductor, announced today that some new music would be introduced Sunday and urged that there be a full attendance of members. On account of the two holidays, there will be no rehearsals after Sunday until January 8. The orchestra is making preparations to give a concert soon.

FRED DECKER IS SET FREE BY JURY VERDICT

Acquitted of Murdering Leroy Lovett in Plot to Defraud Insurance Companies

(By United Press)

Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 17.—Fred Decker was acquitted by a jury here late last night of murdering Leroy Lovett in a plot of defraud life insurance companies of $24,000.

After the jury had deliberated four hours and forty-five minutes, Decker was led into the court room to receive the verdict. He was smiling apparently confident, and the crowd broke into applause when the foreman said "not guilty."

Mrs. Decker, holding her six months old baby, handed it to a bystander and rushed to her husband embracing him.

"Now Fred we can go home," she cried sobbing.

Decker gave way to the nervous strain of weeks of trial and broke down and wept. He shook hands with each member of the jury and with all court attaches.

Four ballots were taken by the jury. The first stood 9 to 3 and the next two 10 to 2 for acquittal.

Prosecuting attorneys were considering the advisability today of proceeding with their case against Cal Decker, the third of three brothers charged with complicity in the crime. Virgil Decker, the other brother is serving a sentence of life imprisonment.

Feed—Wheat mill feed situation slightly easier. More feed arriving upon the market and demand is less urgent. Winter wheat bran strong at Kansas City because of shutting down of western mills. Linseed meal offerings light but demand also light. Market strong on cottonseed meal on good export buying. Wintery weather in west caused firmer alfalfa meal prices. Hominy feed scarce for immediate shipment. Demand light. Quoted December sixteenth; spring bran $21; standard middlings $21-50; linseed meal $44.50, Minneapolis Winter bran 20.25; gray shorts $23 Kansas City. New York Stocks

New York, Dec. 17—The market showed little life during the first few minutes of trading today. The opening prices were little changed from Friday's last. The oils were firm and most of the early sales of Pacific oil were slightly under 50. Royal Dutch showed a gain of a point. Tobaccos acted well with some fairly heavy trading in retail stores above 59.

Coppers which have recently had a big advance, showed the effect of profit taking. Among the specialties Davison Chemical opened up 1 1/2 at 54 1/2, but on three sales dropped a point to 53 1/2. Lackawanna led the rails with all of the early sales above.

Speciaties were about the only stock that did much in the first hour. May Department stores made a new high for the year at 109 and Otis Steel cold at 12, up 23-8. Coppers were heavy and Utah was offered down to 63, off about 3 points from the weeks high. Oils did little with the exception of Royal Dutch which ran up close to 3 points.

Just before the end of the hour there was a sudden upturn in rails with Athabasca making a new high on the move at 93, while Lackawanna went above 117.

Opening prices today include: American Smelting 46; Studebaker 81 1/2 off 1; Inspiration 42 1/2; Famous Players 76 1/2 off 1/2; Texas Co. 473-8 off 1/2; New York Centra 73 1/2; Bethlehem B 57 off 1/2; Royal Dutch 51 1/2 up 3/4; Retail stores 53 1/2 up 1/2; Asphalt 593-8 off 1/2; Reading 51 up 1/2; Royal Dutch 51 1/2 up 1/2; American T 117 1/2 up 1/2.

FRATERNITY HOUSE BURNS

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 17.—The Tampa-Ohi-Alfa fraternity house here was completely destroyed by fire late last night. It is believed a match thrown in a dumb waiter caused the fire. At the time the fire was discovered a dance was being given in the chapter house. Occupants of the house were able to save most of their personal belongings but the furniture was a complete loss. The damage was estimated to be around $20,000.

Saenta Claus Almost in Mourning Because of Poor Showing of Friends

 this year unless the more fortunate people come to their aid. The list is not yet complete and in all probability it will equal last year's when two hundred and seventeen children in sixty-five homes were remembered on Christmas day.

But last year $826.85 was contributed to provide gifts for these little folks. This year the friends of Santa Claus are not coming to the front as they did then. For this reason it is very evident that some tall hustling will have to be done during the last week if all of the unfortunate children are rewarded fittingly for keeping faith in Santa Claus.

Any doubt that the underprivileged children of Rushville are not in as great need this year as they have been previously, would be removed by anyone who examined the cards which have been turned in by the members of the county board of children's guardians.

For example, listen to this:

Father suffered severe accident has not been able to work for four months. Sometimes works an hour a day, but can not stand more. A boy sixteen years of age works after school and on Saturday. The father received accident insurance but this was discontinued the latter part of November. All of the children go to school and they have no income except what the older boy makes. There is still another child—the fifth—who is a dependent although grown.

This is only an instance that may be found in any of scores of Rushville homes. The children are not responsible for the plight in which Christmas finds them. They are entitled to be happy at the glad season. It is the purpose of the Christmas fund to make them happy. The more the people of the community open up their purposes for this mission of good cheer, just that much more will the little folks have at Christmas.

What Would You Do?

That is a question every Hoosier may well ask himself in connection with the great white plague, tuberculosis. What would you do if you fell victim to the disease?

The answer is difficult for the rich and the poor alike, as shown by a recent statement by Murray A. Auerbach shows that the Hoosier, while he has progressed with the world, has neglected to fortify himself properly against tuberculosis. The situation in brief is this:

If you fell victim to the plague, you would seek medical attendance. Your doctor would recommend nursing service. But there are only fifty-two tuberculosis nurses in Indiana, and only ten of them give all of their time to the work. Your doctor might wish to send you to a hospital but these are only five tuberculosis hospitals in Indiana. The State maintains one, and Allen, St. Joseph Marion and Vanderburg Counties have one each. In no other hospital of the State can tuberculosis be treated.

What would you do? Your doctor might suggest going to another, far-off State, which costs a great deal of money. Charity patients are not welcome in other states, because they have their own tuberculosis problem. The disease may be cured in Indiana as well as elsewhere, if the public will simply take heed of the situation.

Christmas Seal money has carried the educational and preventive campaign against tuberculosis to its present position. It supports 46 of the 52 tuberculosis nurses. The death rate is being reduced, but too little is still being done. More nurses and more hospitals are needed urgently. The people of the state should turn in and put their shoulders to this particular wheel, because it is one that rolls to their own protection and welfare. Just now the Tuberculosis Association is asking for a per capita contribution of seven cents. That average, we are told, will insure a strong program for next year, but the average citizen can well afford to invest many times that amount in Christmas Seals. What will you do?

The Difference

The world is torn, and bleeding, and desolate, and civilization disintegrates. That is the work of man.

Christmas bells ring merrily, and their chimes sound sweetly, and their message is a call to a purer and better life. That is the work of God.

God and man are far apart, but the road to a closer sympathy and understanding contains no obstacle that can not be moved aside or overcome.

In the home of plenty there will be rest and contentment as the Christmas bells chime.

In the hovel of wretchedness there will be only longing for the things that are not.

The hand in the hovel will be outstretched. Will the one in the realm of plenty be withdrawn?

They should meet.

There's a reason why wise people are not averse to speaking of their own faults. It knocks the props from under their critics.

General Wood appears to be making good as governor general of the Philippines. He is keeping out of print.

The average investigating committee can not harm the innocent and does not harm the guilty.

Never mind explaining why you didn't do it. The fact that you didn't is all sufficient.

No, a prophet is never without honor as long as his own brain continues to function.

Perhaps the most mathematically correct postoffice in the country is Figure Five, Ark.

SECOND HIGHEST IN CLASS

In the state board examination of nurses held recently, Miss Pearl Leach of this city made a grade of 97.9, which was the second highest in the class. The highest average average, 98 percent, was made by Miss Mable Chaffe, a alum of Miss Leach's during the three years nurses' training course. Both were graduates of St. Anthony's hospital, Terre Haute.

LOCALS SWAMP FAIRVIEW FIVE

Rushville High School's Basketeers
Pile up Biggest Score of the
Season Friday Night

COUNT 53 TO VISITORS 15

Substitutes Show Unusual Form in
Last Half—Varsity Combination Hard to Beat

The Fairview high school basketball team was swamped last night by the Rushville team, the score being 53 to 15, and in the curtain raiser the second team from the local school also won out in easy fashion, 34 to 10. Both games were hotly contested by the visitors, but they could not stand the pace set by the locals.

The first ten minutes of the big contest was a real battle, and Fairview jumped into the lead several times, at one time having 8 points to Rushville's 7, but after that the visiting team could not stand up under the rushes and fast team work, and Rushville had little trouble in taking the ball down the floor.

Neither team made much headway for the first few minutes of play and Rushville missed several shots after taking the ball through the line, and Fairview came close on their long shots. Casady broke the spell by making a field goal, and Phillips made it three points on a foul goal.

Then Custer, for the visitors, counted on a long shot from the field and a few seconds later Parker put Fairview in the lead 4 to 3, when he made a field goal.

Headlee batted the ball into the basket for Rushville and Casady again came across with a goal that gave Rushville the lead 7 to 4. Custer and Parker each contributed a goal for Fairview when their team showed a big rally, and then the visitors were leading 8 to 7.

Rushville called time, and then the locals re-entered the game with a determination to win, and Frazee, back guard for the locals, ventured to the center of the floor and with a clear shot, put the locals in front, and from this time on, Fairview trailed.

When the half way mark rolled around the score was 27 to 10, and in the last half the visitors made 5 more points while Rushville counted 26.

Headlee played at forward last night during the first half, and with Casady as his running mate, the pair worked out in good style. Frazee jumped at center, but dropped back to his regular position as back guard, and Pugh handled the center man during the game. Phillips played his usual game as running guard.

The combination used last night will be hard for any team to beat, and this line-up will probably be used against Valley Mills tonight, in that town.

The three substitutes were given a good work out in the last half, when Crimm replaced Casady, Sparks went in for Headlee and Sommerville played for Pugh.

The substitutes displayed equally as good team work, and held the visitors scoreless. The feature of the work of the substitutes was three field baskets by Sommerville, one right after the other, from near the foul line.

Throughout the game the team displayed some of the cleverest passing and team work of any team ever seen on the local floor, and all shots were made within close range of the basket.

The line-up and summary:
Rushville (53) Fairview (15)
Casady F. Custer
Headlee F. Parker
Pugh C. Cook
Phillips G. Darnell
Frazee G. McClain
Substitutions: Rushville, Sparks for Headlee; Crimm for Casady; Sommerville for Pugh; Field goals, Casady 5, Headlee 6, Sparks 3, Pugh 3, Sommerville 3, Phillips 3, Frazee, Custer 2, Parker 3, Cook 2. Foul goals, Pugh 2, Phillips 3, Cook 1. Referee Babb.

RALEIGH WINS GAME, 49-10

Milton Friday Night

Raleigh high school's basketball team had little difficulty in defeating the Milton high school five Friday night at Raleigh, winning handily with the score of 49 to 10. The Raleigh court men had everything their own way from the first whistle and held the visitors five points in each half, the score at the end of the first half being 22 to 5. In a curtain raiser, the Raleigh second team defeated Gings high school, 26 to 18.

Raleigh has been going exceptionally good this year and will take on the fast Cambridge City high school quintet next Friday night at Cambridge.

expressed among some of the business men, concerning the annual Christmas business, with the toy stores holding out that business was good, and would run close to the record of last year, while several of the stores that sell gifts of more useful articles, such as hardware stores, assert that business is not nearly as good as last year, even though prices have declined.

Every merchant anticipates heavy buying next week, and those whose business has not measured up to expectations, are hopeful that next week will make the tide turn.

Grocers assert that food prices in practically every article, show a drop this Christmas, but this class of business is not affected with the rush of the Christmas season until the last few days this year is back to normal, and prices on candy are from 30 to 50 percent lower than last year, with good candy for the Christmas stocking priced as low as 15 and 18 cents a pound, and chocolates may be found in some stores as low as 20 cents a pound.

Dry goods stores and clothing stores are having about their usual run of the Christmas trade, and the owners of several stores assert that sensible buying is the watchword with practically every purchaser.

The Christmas meal, if served with turkey this year, will run lower than last year, on account of the lower prices on most food. Turkey will probably sell at from 40 to 50 cents a pound, the same as last year, but a scarcity exists, it is said. For some unknown reason, cranberries this year are away up on price compared with last year.

One merchant in summing up the business conditions stated that the weather was not favorable for Christmas shopping and that people were not realizing that only a week remained.

"A good snow, and a little spell of real winter weather right now, would help business immensely," said one dealer.

Practically every merchant anticipated a busy week next week, and many predicted that buying would continue strong until late Saturday night, the eve before Christmas.

MOSCOW TRIMS MANILLA

Sets Fast Pace Defeating Walker
Townships Lads, 24-16

Moscow high school set a fast pace last night when they defeated the Manilla high school on the floor at Moscow, 24 to 16, and the Orange township team now has a record of six out of 7 games played, dropping a game early in the season to Manilla by a few points. The Moscow team is said to be a coming aggregation, and they have defeated Carthage this season on the Carthage floor, putting them in the front as a contender for the district honors.

In the curtain raiser last night the second team from Moscow also won out over the Manilla second team by the close count of 10 to 7.

CONSIDERING SALARY CUT

Indiana Farm Federation Takes up
Proposal to Lower Expenses

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 17—Directors of the Indiana Federation of Farmers Associations were meeting today to take final action on their proposal to cut the salaries of officers of the organization.

When they first announced their intentions, a storm of protest was drawn from the officers who said such action would disrupt the efficiency of the federation. The directors said salary cuts were in line with the general downward trend of the prices of farm products but some of the officers said they would refuse to accept a reduction.

AMUSEMENTS

"Rose of the West"

A man went out to buy a loaf of bread for his wife fifteen years ago. The other day he walked in, put down the bread, and said:

"Mother, here's the bread. I've been a long time getting it!"

In that fifteen years the man's family had not heard a word of or from him. When the husband went away his wife waited for him with the devotion of Enoch Arden's Annie. Then came a corroborated report that the man had been killed in Alaska.

Five years after the husband left she was married. Her second husband has made her a happy wife, educated her three children; and now this woman faces the problem, perplexing morally and legally, of possessing two husbands.

An instance similar to this is given in the William Fox play, "Rose of the West," in which a wife's brutal husband has left her and been reported dead—and she is about to marry another man, when the husband returns.

Just how most women would act in such circumstances is hard to say; but it is certain that what a woman of honor would do is portrayed in "Rose of the West," playing at the Mystic Theatre today.

THE SAFE WAY

Have your car examined or overhauled before beginning its winter use.

Cars get more or less out of order during a long summer of hard driving, and do not run as perfectly as they should. Additional wear and strain of the affected parts means increased expense to you if allowed to continue.

Failure to correct these defects has caused the wrecking of many cars. We are fully equipped to take care of any car.

Don't Burn Good Fuel in a Poor Stove.

PEPSINCO

It is a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment; if your food does you no good; if food distresses, rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEP-SINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

Auction Bridge — No. 6

"The Play's the Thing"
With the bidding finished, and the right to play the hand purchased, —"The Play's the Thing."

The original leader, who is the player to the left of the highest bidder, or the one who first mentioned the suit, should strive to help his partner make good his suit.

In Auction the leader always has a one for his opening lead. If his partner has made no bid, the inference is that he holds no valuable suit. If he has bid, then lead the highest of three or less and the lowest of four or more cards of his suit. If you hold the command of your partner's suit, always play it. If you hold honors in sequence, lead the highest. This is in accordance with the old rule, "Get rid of the command of your partner's suit."

Keep the command of the opponent's suit.

Against a no-trump make, the Eldest hand or Leader should open with the following cards:

Lead Ace when holding—

1. Ace, Queen, Jack, and others, with re-entry card.
2. Ace, and seven small cards.
3. Ace, Queen, and five small cards.
4. Ace, Jack and five small cards.

Lead King when holding—

1. Ace, King, Queen, and others.
2. Ace, King, Jack and others.
3. Ace King, Ten, and three small cards, with a re-entry card.
4. Ace, King, and five small cards.
5. King, Queen, Jack, and others.
6. King, Queen, Ten and others.
7. King, Queen and five small cards.

Lead Queen when holding—

1. Queen, Jack, Ten, and others.
2. Queen, Jack, Nine and others.
3. Ace, Queen, Jack, and others, without re-entry card.

Lead Jack when holding—

- Jack, Ten, Nine, and others.

Lead Ten when holding—

- King, Jack, Ten, and others.

In a no-trump make, your long suit is in no danger of being ruffed, (as each card is worth its face value), so unless it is already established, the chances for bringing it in will be increased by opening with a low card. When opening low, always lead your fourth best.

The only exception to the above in opening high card combinations is when you hold no re-entry card and have no show to make your suit. In that case, cash any trick the hand may have to save a little slam and to see Dummy's strength.

There are but few, indeed, very few, exceptions to the rule that your partner's suit be led at once.

More tricks, games, and rubbers are lost by the failure to give the partner his suit than by any other single error.

Give partner his suit first. Your good suit will keep, and the Dummy's weakness will generally reveal which it is.

If possible, lead to hold the first trick. After seeing Dummy's hand you are in a position to lead against his strength.

Opening Lead Against a Declared Trump

Quick action is good against a declared trump, as the knowledge is positive that your opponent holds strength and generally length of trumps. Cash in your suit cards, especially if you have length or strength of a suit.

1. With Ace, King, and others, lead the King.

2. With Ace and King alone, lead the Ace.

3. Lead a Singleton if short in trumps.

4. With King, Queen, and others, lead the Queen. (A suit with King, Queen, and one other is a weak opening. Better let the suit be led to you in which case two tricks may be made from the suit.)

5. Holding low honors in sequence, lead the highest, regardless of number.

6. Lead the Ace from any suit of five or more, unless the suit includes the Queen, in which case it forms the major tenace and it is best to have the lead come to you.

7. With any two eard suit, open with the high one, except in the case of Ace and Queen, or King and one other.

8. With any other combination, lead the fourth best card of your longest suit.

Second Leads

"No-Trumps. If you have opened the suit from a sequence, let the second lead be the lowest card of the sequence.

When a fourth best card is led, deduct the face value of the card led from Eleven, and the remainder will be the number of higher cards held by the other three players. For example: Eight is led. Eight from eleven leaves three. There are three higher cards than Eight which are not in the leader's hand.

This rule is especially valuable in the no-trump play to the third hand player, and enables him to finesse. It is known as Foster's Rule of Eleven.

Second Hand Plays

Cover an honor with an honor, if you hold a perfect or imperfect fourchette.

Holding two or more cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest.

If possible, beat Dummy's holding, for it may save high cards in your partner's hand.

If Dummy can beat any card you hold of the suit, play low.

If you hold the ace and other cards of the suit which the Dummy leads, and trumps are against you play your ace second in hand. If you wait, your ace may be trumped.

Never hesitate. By hesitation, information is given to the dealer and you assist him to place the strength and to finesse in Dummy's hand.

Third Hand Plays

Play your highest card if you can go higher than the cards already played. If you hold cards in sequence, play the lower or lowest of the sequence.

Never finesse in your partner's suit.

SCATTERED ALL OVER WORLD

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 17.—The anarchists who dynamited Wall Street in September, 1920, killing thirty-seven persons, now are known to the department of justice William J. Burns, chief of department secret service, said today.

The arrests of the conspirators, now said to be scattered throughout several countries of the world, have been ordered, he indicated.

Burns announced he would leave for New York today to take personal charge of further activities toward apprehending those believed responsible for the explosion.

From a high source in the department of justice it was learned that Wolfe Lindenfeld, reported to have been arrested and to have made a confession in connection with the crime at Warsaw, Poland is not considered one of the men who drove the dynamite wagon or planted the bomb.

He, however, is said to know all the principals and details to the plot to wreck the New York financial district and is believed to have been inducted to reveal everything as the result of a promise that he would receive the $30,000 reward offered by the New York financial houses for the apprehension of the dynamiters.

SHANTUNG BLOCKS ROAD TO PEACE

Can Not Long Be Obstruction if Japan is Willing to Surrender Possession Now or Fixed Time

SHOWS SUCH WILLINGNESS

Can be Counted Upon to Make any Concessions Asked in Interests of Peace, Bryan Asserts

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright 1921 by United Press)

The Shantung question seems to be the difficult problem just now, but it cannot long obstruct the road to peace if Japan is willing to surrender possession now or at a fixed time in the near future.

Any fair conditions that she may suggest for the protection of property interests there can easily be met by China. When China is recognized as an independent nation, with full sovereignty over her domain and freed from the restrictions that have embarrassed her she will have no trouble in securing the money necessary for the purchase of any property that aliens now control.

Japan has shown such a willingness to conform to the spirit of the conference that she can be counted upon to make any concessions that can be reasonably asked in the interests of peace in the Far East.

Even the request that Japan makes for the retention of the Mutsu her largest and newest battle ships just launched, need not embarrass the conference if the adjustment made necessary does not compel the surrender of the naval holiday.

It would be a serious thing if any demand made by Japan should prevent the entire suspension of the construction of battleships. The proposition that the U. S. be permitted to retain two of its new battleships and that Great Britain be permitted to build two would not only very much lessen the moral force of the Hughes proposition but sentimentally speaking, it would greatly weaken the impression made by the cessation of work in navy yards.

It is possible that the addition made to Japan's navy by the retention of the Mutsu may be offset by the scrapping of an equal tonnage of smaller ships and it is likewise that such a division might be made between Great Britain and America as to permit the suspension of all work on naval craft for the proposed time. It would be most unfortunate if the conclusion of the conference brought the anti climax. The delegates cannot afford to dampen the enthusiasm aroused at the beginning of the gathering.

FAVORS ENDING OF MARINE OCCUPATION

APOLOGIZES TO THE PEOPLE

San Domingo, Dec. 17.—Senator Medill McCormick, chairman of the committee investigating alleged marine outrages in Haiti today declared he was interested in terminating the marine occupation of the island.

McCormick announcing his attitude asked several witnesses if they did not believe the marines should be withdrawn.

McCormick also apologized in the name of the American people for outrages alleged to have been committed by Captain Merkle. He said that the "occupation" jealous of its reputation, had sent officers to arrest Merkle but that he had then committed suicide.

Pedro Ribera, testified that a peaceful citizen had been taken from his home, a rope placed around his neck and his hands tied. Thus bound he was forced to run five kilometers behind a trotting horse with a marine holding the rope, Ribera said.

Ribera also told of another innocent citizen who was bound to a stake and given the water cure by Merkle three times.

Jose Jimenez, son of a former president, testified, Capt. Crowsley, of the U. S. S. Prairie, threatened in May 1915, to fire indiscriminately into crowds if a single shot were fired by Dominicans.

The Christmas Store

Plan several excursions to Mauzy's next week, where your Christmas shopping can be done in a most satisfactory manner. Our customers have been most agreeably surprised how very attractive the prices are on gifts of quality.

¶ Luscious silken under attire makes very pleasing gifts—so dainty and so attractive it appeals to all. Camisoles, bandeaus, envelopes, bloomers, and gowns of satin and crepe de chene are the offerings. Hand embroidered Porto Rico lingerie, too.

¶ Silken Hose makes satisfactory gifts only when the quality is right. Here you have that assurance with the added advantage of having many colors and styles from which to choose.

¶ Surely some of your friends would be gladdened with a gift of French Ivory. The variety here is almost endless in both plain and decorated pieces. Ask for the ivory section and give your eyes a feast.

¶ Any lady would be greatly pleased with a gift of furs. The muskrat and Hudson seal coats are very attractive and the prices even more so. Visit Mauzy's for anything in fur, including children's sets.

¶ A shipment of Perky-Peggy house frocks has just reached us from the Pacific coast. You will receive them very enthusiastically when you see the unusual features. $2.00 to $3.95

¶ After Christmas prices prevail in ladies' coats, suits, dresses, skirts and blouses, so why not take advantage of them for gifts. The variety is all you could ask.

¶ The December shipment of Fitrite silk petticoats and pettibockers is in. One makes a splendid gift to mail to a distance.

¶ To look over the display you would think there was a pair of house slippers for every man, woman and child in the county. But if you wait too long, the proper size may be gone. Come tomorrow.

¶ What would be nicer than a light and warm home-made comfort? Some plain, others with borders, made of good silkline and filled with the best cotton. $3.95 to $6.50

THE YULETIDE FLAME

Spark in Hearts of People. Cannot Be Quenched.

All Have Desire to Make Fellowmen Happy by Gift or Words of Greeting.

NEITHER hatred, nor envy, nor deceit, nor all the legions of ugly human passions that assail the heart, nor rancor between individuals, nor national lust for power, can extinguish it. They may dim but they cannot quench the spark in the heart of man which impels him, as every waking year brings the Christmas, to try to make a few of his fellowmen a little happier. Often it is by the method of the gift, perhaps something that costs hundreds of dollars, maybe only a penny card bearing an inscription of good cheer. Frequently it is something intangible, the whole-souled word of greeting to the old lady in a shawl who sells you your paper, or the smile of comradeship which you give the conductor who punches your ticket, or the elevator man who takes you up to your office (fellow workers all). It is not giving that counts, not the bestowal of something valued in dollars and cents, the transference of something from your hand to another's. That is a purely mechanical process, which may or may not create happiness. No; it is the longing to give, the desire to be the cause of another's happiness.

To wish to help others is the oldest passion in the world—even a little older than the impulse to overcome others. And it is the deathless passion as well. It needs no Christmas day to keep it alight, but as long as Christmas continues to provide fuel to make the flame of good fellowship burn brighter, that day will continue to be the richest 24 hours in all the year.

Santa Claus' Books

WHEN the evening shadows gather and the time is eight o'clock you can hear, if you will listen, Mr. Santa Claus' name knock. Then you'd better hustle lively—time your evening prayers were said. And each boy and girl well tucked in their cozy, downy little bed. For when Mr. Santa Claus' knocking sounds the signal, you may know Santa Claus is closely watching from his palace built of snow. And the children that are naughty and don't mind their ma's and pa's Get their names down in the "Bad Book" that is kept by Santa Claus. Boys who never split the kindling, and the girls who always cry When they're asked to wash the dishes—Santa Claus has got his eye On such boys and girls, and watches with a sad and sorry look As he writes each name in sorrow on the pages of his book. And the girls who never hurries, but lets mamma do the work. And the boy who's always scheming all his little chores to shirk—They may think no one pays notice when they don't help ma's and pa's But their names are on the "Bad Book" that is kept by Santa Claus. But old Santa keeps a "Good Book"—it's the bestest book of all. Where he writes the names of children who are prompt at duty's call. And the boys who split the kindling and the girls who never shirk But rise early in the morning and help mamma with the work; And the boys who never grumble when there's work for them to do, And the girls who help their mamma's till the housework is all through—Oh, they needn't ever worry when it's Christmas time, because All their names are in the "Good Book" that is kept by Santa Claus.

Is your name down in the "Bad Book"? Well, there is still a chance for you. And if you will listen to me, I will tell you what to do. Don't act naughty, don't talk rudely, don't be noisy, be polite; Get up early in the morning, and into bed early at night. Cheerfully perform each duty, do your work before you play. Never put off till tomorrow work that should be done today. If you do these things, dear children, it will please your ma's and pa's. And your names go in the "Good Book" that is kept by Santa Claus.

Early Christmas Morning

FOUR little feet patter on the floor,
Two tangle-cut heads peering in at the door,
Hear the merry laughter o'er the chimney's rear,
Early Christmas morning.

Two little stockings full of sweets and toys,
Everlasting as Christmas for little girls and boys,
How could they help, then, making such a drowsy noise
Early Christmas morning?

Down beside the stockings many gifts were stored,
Bells, drums, a cradle, and a brand new sword;
"Haven't we too many?" little Nellie said,
Early Christmas morning.

Four little feet on the sidewalk cold,
Two little faces with wet and hungry mold,
Peeping through the window where these gifts were stored,
Early Christmas morning.

"Yes," says John to Nellie, as he spies the two,
"We've so many presents—tell you what we'll do:
I'll give half of mine away. Now, dear Nellie, will you?"
Early Christmas morning.

Two little hungry ones into the house were called,
Favors heaped upon them till they stood enraptured,
Was not this the angels' song, "Peace, goodwill to all!"
Early Christmas morning!

Decorate the Christmas Package

EVERY one when sending a Christmas gift desires it to appear as attractive as possible. When we receive a gift nicely wrapped with tissue paper and decorated with pretty Christmas seals, there is an added pleasure. This is especially so when we realize that the sender has spent time and cleverness to give this little touch of personal thoughtfulness.

Many varieties of Christmas seals may be purchased, but a little originality will not come amiss even in these small details.

There are seals for the outside package and the heading to be used on the note paper, conveying the good wishes of the giver, or on the little card of greeting. These two in each set match. This gives another touch of the unusual, which is always sought after.

Have a piece of carbon paper, place it over the note paper, card or seal, and on top of this one of the designs. Carefully trace with a sharp pencil the entire outline. An exact duplicate of the design will be found on the note paper or seal ready for tinting. This may be easily done with water colors or wax crayons. Poinsettia should be colored a warm, bright red, with yellow centers and dark green stems.

Holly, the special emblem of this season, has berries of vivid, fiery red and glossy leaves of dark green.

A dainty basket of forget-me-nots would be pretty colored yellow, the flowers a faint light blue and the bow-knot of pale pink. Now we have the mystic sign of the holidays, borrowed from the Druids, the mistletoe. The berries of this plant are a pearly white and the leaves a yellowish green.

Spend a little extra time giving the Christmas gift this novel decoration, and the pleasure it affords will never cause you to regret having done so.

Economy is to be considered at Christmas time. Our purse-strings have been stretched to the breaking point purchasing gifts for relatives and friends. To put this fascinating bit of handiwork upon the Christmas package costs comparatively nothing, aside from the time you spend doing it. This fact counts very little when we add to the enjoyment of others.

These few suggestions will probably cause endless ideas for the Christmas package to present themselves to you. Make your gifts radiate the holiday spirit; give this little bit of personality and attractiveness to as small a thing as the Christmas seal.

HOW UNKIND—
"Fred is getting nearsighted."
"It doesn't follow that there is anything the matter with his eyes because he can't see one under the mistletoe."

Christmas Packages.

A woman whose Christmas packages never fail to reach their destination in safety says she always writes the name and address of the recipient upon the inside wrapper of the box containing them. Packages sometimes lose their outside wrappings, but if the postal clerks can find the address on the inside wrapping all will be well. This woman also ties up the inside wrapping securely before putting on the outside cover.

OLD YULETIDE CAROLS

"Holy Night" Regarded as One of Most Beautiful Songs.

"Draw Nigh, Immanuel," One of Oldest Pieces and Far Antedates Any Others.

THE ancient Christmas carol, "Holy Night" is German in its origin and is considered by many persons to be the most beautiful of all Christmas carols. It has sometimes been ascribed to Martin Luther, but the consensus of expert opinion is that it is much older than his time and is one of the oldest of German folk songs. The carol "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," is English in its origin and dates back to about the beginning of the Seventeenth century, although the author of the words and the composer of the music are unknown. The fine old melody sung to this poem possesses all the best qualifications of a sterling hymn tune and will probably last as long as the verses with which it is always associated.

The carol "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," is one of the oldest pieces of coherent music in existence, and both the words and music far antedate any of the others. The music is an old French melody, dated from the Thirteenth century, although, of course, it has been harmonized to conform with more modern standards.

There is a most curious but beautiful musical effect at the close of this carol. The words of "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," are about 100 years older than the music, being taken from the Mozarabic breviary of the Twelfth century, and it is generally believed that they were taken from the liturgy of the early Christians at Toledo, Spain, where the Mozarabic breviary was formulated.

Another carol, "The First Noel," has a traditional French melody and probably originated in Breton, although the exact origin of this fine old song is somewhat in doubt.

Christmas Again

Christmas again, and hearts again
And songs and merry times;
New friends to make, old friends to greet,

Discharging Christmas cheer.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND

Crowing of the Cock to Keep Away Evil Spirits.

Tale of Saint Stephen, the First Martyr, Whose Day is December Twenty-Six.

EVER since that first Christmas eve the cock has crowed all night long on the anniversary to keep away evil spirits; for the cock is a holy bird and a knowing one. There is a pleasant tale of him and Saint Stephen, the first martyr, whose day is December 26, close by his dear Lord's.

Saint Stephen was King Herod's steward, it seems, who served him in the kitchen and at table. One night as he was bringing in the board's head for his master's dinner he saw the Star shining over Bethlehem. Immediately he set down the huge platter and exclaimed:

"No longer, Herod, will I be thy servant, for a greater King than thou is born."

"What aileth thee?" cried the King wrathfully. "Do you lack meat or drink that you would desert my service for another's?"

"Nay," answered Stephen. "I lack neither meat nor drink. But the Child that is born this night is greater than all of us; and Him only will I serve."

"That is as true," quoth Herod, smiting the table with his fist, "as that this roast cock on the platter shall crow before us."

Hardly were the words out of his mouth when the cock stretched his neck and crowed lustily, "Christus natus est!" At this proof that Stephen's words were true, Herod was so angry that he made his soldiers take Stephen outside the walls of Jerusalem and stone him to death. And this is the reason why, unto this day, Saint Stephen is the patron of stone-cutters. —Abbie Farwell Brown, in Lippincott's Magazine.

Cleansing the Saucepan.

Here is a simple but most successful method of cleansing a saucepan in which milk has been boiled. After pouring out the boiling milk, quickly replace the lid before the steam has time to escape, and allow the saucepan to cool before taking it off again. Then put the pan in cold water to soak. It can be cleaned quickly and easily.

CHRISTMAS IN 1621

Rebuke Administered to New England Observers of Day.

Young Men Who Had Arrived on Little Ship Fortune Reprimanded for Festivities.

IT WAS in 1621 that Governor Bradford was called upon to administer a rebuke to some of the young men of the New England colony who had just come over on the little ship Fortune, and who wanted to celebrate the holiday, the Detroit News recalls. Puritanism brought over with it in the Mayflower the anti-Christmas feeling, and when the group of lusty youngsters attempted to observe the day they were sharply criticized by the colony.

The men were called out to work that day as on other days, but the newcomers declared it against their consciences to work on Christmas day. The governor left them and led away the rest of the workers. But when he returned at noon, the young men were in the street at play—some pitching the bar and some playing stool ball. He took away their implements and told them it was against his conscience that they should play while others worked, and that they could observe the day within doors, but there should be no reveling in the streets.

On the day in question a tree was chopped down and dragged into one of the rough cabins where it was trimmed with cranberries and popcorn, while the young people feasted their eyes on its beauties. These "revels" were frowned upon by the majority of the colonists and in 1650 the general court of Massachusetts enacted a law that made any person observing Christmas day liable to a fine of "five shillings." The law was repealed in 1861.

Placecards

Next after decorating the table comes the question of placecards. These may be as simple or as elaborate as you like, but you really should have them! You might cut white cardboard into small round pieces. Give each an irregularly outlined border of green and at the top of this little make-believe Christmas wreath punch a small hole, through it draw red baby ribbon, and tie in a bow. The name is written in the center.

THE ROSE OF JERICHO

Pilgrims Told of Its Power to Bloom on Christmas Day.

Blossom Given the Name of Resurrection Flower; Also Called St. Mary's Rose.

SEVERAL varieties of the so-called resurrection plant have appeared among the novelties offered by florists, but the original is the rose of Jericho. Along the shores of the Dead sea, far enough away to be out of reach of the death-dealing vapors and the salt spray, grows this rose, a little plant famed in many a legendary story, which, when ripened, rolls up its sprays and branches into a curious little brown ball.

The desert winds snap off its dry stem and whirl the seemingly dead little ball away over sandy plains, like a feather-weight. After it chances to reach some damp place, in about ten days, the moisture has wrought a miracle, for the once dead is alive again, green and growing.

The old-time pilgrims, who brought back this plant with them from the Holy Land, told wonderful tales of its power to bloom out on Christmas day and gave it the name of resurrection flower. Another old legend names it from every spot where they halted to rest.

The dry ball when unfolding drops its seeds, and from these it may be cultivated as an annual. To resurrect these dry balls it is simply necessary to keep them standing in glasses of water, immersed about halfway to the top of their branches. The expansion is merely a mechanical spongelike process.

The botanical name of the rose of Jericho is anastasis, from anastasis, resurrection. There are other species of resurrection plants, but they are not so attractive as their Dead sea relative, which, although it has very little beauty, has an honored place among flowers because of the many fancies and associations it calls up and its peculiar development.—Argus.

The DAY DREAMS of the OLD FOLKS AT CHRISTMAS

by Frank L. Stanton

Old folks, too, like Christmas; Grandfather, sitting there,
Feels sad if he's forgotten 'cause he's in his chimney-chair;
He says he's thinkin' of the days that he no more will see,
When he was just a little boy—a Christmas boy—like me.

He listens to the fire—for it's always talkin' so,
And then it is he calls to mind his good times long ago
When the Christmas wind was whistlin' through the cold and frosty nights
And children dreamed of Christmas bells and watched for Christmas lights.

He doesn't seem to hear at all the noise the children make,
For when he sits the stillest there he's dreamin' wide awake!
But mother—then she tells us to all run right out and play,
For old folks hear sweet music when they're dreamin' day by day.

And then, Grandmother—SHE comes in and sits beside him there,
And puts her hand in his, and says sweet words he loves to hear;
But what they are she'd never tell to mother or to you;
She knows that he is dreamin', for she dreams the same dreams, too.

So Christmas comes to old folks, and it's then they love to know
The children don't forget 'em, though they lived so long ago!
An' they say the sweetest present of all sweet things and fair
Is a kiss on Christmas mornin' when we climb their chimney chair.

THE CHRISTMAS TABLE

Little Things That Add Much to Success of Home Day.

How the Housewife Can Prepare Delicacies That Will Appeal to Both Old and Young.

THE housewife can indulge in these exclusive imaginings, however, only in the earliest of her preparations for the Christmas dinner, says Country Life in America. Soon she must closely consider the feast which will be suitable to her own household and purse. If she is a wise housewife, she will not make her festive over-elaborate, whatever the size of her income. She will want something more than "wine and wafers and a rose," but she will find that, if she puts her own best efforts into the decorations, and caters with a thought for the tastes and fancies and little memories of those she is to serve, she will have a charming dinner, whatever the number of its courses.

Much of the pleasure of the Christmas dinner depends upon small things.

This is the occasion for the most choice of the jelly and pickles which have been stored up in the summer. Of course, there must be celery and cranberry sauce, and the housewife will, if possible, have some small thing that is new to her household—a little luxury that comes in glass, if the cost must not be heavy, or, if she need not think of that, some far-fetched dainty with the international interest of coming from Japan or from the Philippines.

Dessert allows ample opportunity for small pleasures and surprises. One can hardly believe a child's happiness complete without raisins and almonds to eat in tiny sandwiches and as philopenas. One always hopes to see the old-fashioned kinds of candy at Christmas—striped sticks and clear sticks, and barley sugar, chocolate creams, and gum-drops. They are pretty for the table, and not bad for children, and older people like them for the sake of long-ago Christmas.

Plenty of Mistletoe.

The mistletoe supply is plentiful this year, but, as the girls say, what of it?

Christmas Spirit, Peace and Good Will Should Prevail.

Time to Be Happy and to Aid Others in the Enjoyment of the Season's Cheer.

On earth, peace, good will.—Luke 2:14.

SURELY there is a mystic tie between spirit and nature, between heaven and earth, between God and man. Not strange is it, then, that on the night of the most wondrous birth time has seen, the age sealed skies should part and song of angels entrance the watchers on Bethlehem's plains.

What is the secret of the unwonted charm brought by this brightest day in the year's calendar? Why is the season charged with such gladness? Why do men and women feel that they can lay down their vexing burdens and their faces smile again with the faith and joy of childhood's care-free days?

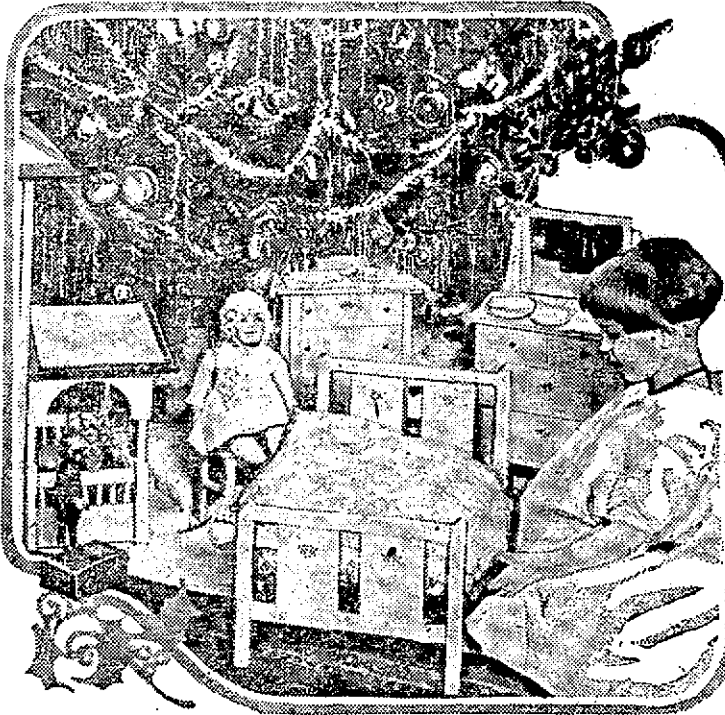

It is the rapt influence of the angelic song on the natal night, "Peace on Earth." To a humanity distracted, troubled by doubts and fears, wounded by sin and smitten by conscience, God sends a message: "Fear not, I am your Father. I give you a Savior from sin and misery. You are my children. My heavenly peace I breathe upon you." And in this sweet pledge of divine remembrance and Fatherly love—of God at peace with men—a wave of tranquil joy floods the world.

But, again, it is an evangel to man of peace with himself. Every man finds discord in his own being. His innermost personality is the seat of antagonisms. He is an instrument out of tune. The primal harmony of his spirit is broken. He is at war with himself. His baser strives with his higher nature. Soul and body war against each other. But "on earth peace," chants the seraphic choir. Regard the image of God stamped upon you. Put down the low and base. Let the spirit rule and the body serve.

Finally, the Christmastide should breathe the spirit of peace in our business and in all the relations of life. Especially in our homes we can cultivate the Christmas spirit, displacing their frequent discontents, fault findings and contentions with peace and good will.

For this glad time, at least, let us all be better men and women; less selfish, more kindly, easier to live with. And how much happier will we be if this Christmas spirit—its cheery glow and kindly warmth—stay with us all through the year!—Junius B. Remensnyder.

THE HOLY MANGER

"Prespio," Instead of Christmas
Tree, in Italy and Spain.

It is Representation of the Place Where Baby Christ Lay in Bethlehem.

GIRLS and boys of Italy and Spain, which are called the Latin countries, never hang up their stockings at Christmas time, nor do they have Christmas trees. Kris Kringle and Santa Claus are German saluts and the Christmas tree came out of the German forests long, long ago, when the nations of northern Europe were forest tribes. It is the northern peoples—the Germans, Scandinavians and English, all of whom are descended from old Teutonic tribes—who keep Christmas as Americans do.

Instead of the Christmas tree, Italian and Spanish boys and girls have the prespio. "Prespio" means manger, and it is a representation of the manger where the baby Christ lay in Bethlehem. It is presented in different ways. Sometimes it shows only the inside of the barn where the Baby and His mother lay, with Joseph, the Three Wise Men and the animals about. Sometimes it shows a hillside, with the Wise Men coming on foot or horseback, or on donkeys, bringing their gifts to the stable. Sometimes the manger is small—not more than a foot square. Sometimes it is large enough to occupy the whole end of a room. It is built on a board foundation and is made of wood, with earth, pebbles, dried grass and leaves for the outdoor scenes. The figures are carved of wood, or perhaps little dolls are used, all very carefully and elaborately dressed by the girls. Sometimes brooks and lakes are ingeniously represented with paper, glass or isinglass. Sometimes the whole is rough and rude, but again it is very neatly and beautifully done, and is quaint and interesting when all complete.

The French, who are half Latin and half Teutonic in their makeup, mix the customs of both races in their Christmas keeping. They build the manger and they also give the children presents; only, instead of hanging her stockings, little French Babette puts out her shoes. The French call the manger "creche," and in country villages in France companies of children still go from house to house on Christmas eve, carrying the creche and singing Christmas carols. Sometimes they help to build a beautiful large creche in the village church, over which they are very proud and delighted.

HAS TONIC EFFECT

Christmas Day Pleasures Are of Benefit to People.

Mental State Does Everybody Good and Festivity Equals Prescription of Physician.

CLOSE observers in the ranks of the medical profession have noted one very interesting fact concerning the Christmas season—that it generally has a good tonic effect upon their patients. In explanation of this the London Lancet says that since Christmas has come to be regarded as a time for good cheer, a universal feeling of contentment and happiness is engendered at this time of joyousness, routine is for a while relieved, a certain freshness is given to the daily round, differences of opinion are sunk, and a charitable spirit prevails. Is it, by the way, hoping for too much, asks the Lancet, that the season of good fellowship should leave some lasting effect upon the manners and methods of all?

It may not be easy to trace exactly why the sense of exhilaration and well-being comes with the advent of Christmas, for the psychological factors concerned are not simple. But the main point is that the mental state does everybody good, and the annual festivity is just as excellent an institution as the prescription of the physician which gives tone and vigor to the struggler in life's race. There is no need nowadays, thanks to the good sense of the people and the counsel of their medical advisers, to moralize about the evils of a stupid indulgence in food, alcohol and tobacco on a festive occasion such as the present. Practically everybody realizes the great physiological advantages of being wise on a merry occasion.

Many more persons than formerly feel where use ends and abuse begins, and they act sensibly accordingly; and so far from it being a crime to make the season festive by enjoying, on a little extended scale perhaps, the creature comforts of life, some decided good is done to both the mental and physical health of the individual.

The festive season may, therefore, be welcomed, which brings cheer to thousands, which induces the generous and charitable to brace the mental and physical functions of the community at large, giving it the opportunity of relinquishing its business and its worries for a time, to start again refreshed and ready for "the trivial round, the common task." The prescription "A Merry Christmas" is sound so long as the "signature" of good sense is observed.

CHRISTMAS TOKENS OF LOVE.

WHEN any uncertainty exists let us give a token of love, or friendship, or human kindness, something that, while expressing these things will, at least, be harmless. Let it be something that does not last—that brings the meaning and vanishes—something that never will know the indignity of the top shelf of the spare room closet!

A knock at a friend's door on Christmas morning and the clasp of a hand do this. A growing plant does it—but, most of all, thou beside me, singing in the wilderness—the personal revelation does it. Suppose a letter came on Christmas morning, to say—not "you are perfectly dear to have sent me a spool box," but "I want you to know that your patience, or courage, or tenderness, during this last year, will help me to live more bravely and courageously and lovingly this next year!" What a Christmas present the receipt of such a letter would be to any one of us! What a Christmas present for any one of us to send to the human heart that has given us courage for the burden and heat of the day!—Indianapolis News.

JOY OF CHRISTMAS

Season Proves That Men and Women Are Friendly Beings.

Desire to Make Presents and to Be Cheerful Shows People Wish to Be Congenial.

ONE of the finest things about Christmas is its truthfulness, the joyous reality of it. At Christmas time no exhortation is necessary to make it go; Christmas never has to be made a "success," as a parade or a pageant.

Christmas is in a certain sense an institution; it comes at a certain date each year; it always has its Christmas tree, its stockings, its poultry dinner colored with cranberries. But it is one of those institutions that has never been institutionalized; it exists in the nature of man.

Christmas proves to us that men, women and children are at heart friendly beings. The spontaneity of Christmas giving and Christmas cheer proves what people really want to be—good friends.

Wars go on at other times; men and women quarrel among themselves over property or over other men and women; artificial requirements are imposed that incite to greed, dishonesty and bitterness. But at Christmas time there comes over the broad surface of our western civilization, which is pretty much like other civilizations, a great reversion to type. Man wants most to be happy, he wants to dance and sing and to make other persons happy. At other times than Christmas something seems to be wrong, and man reasons that someone else is to blame.

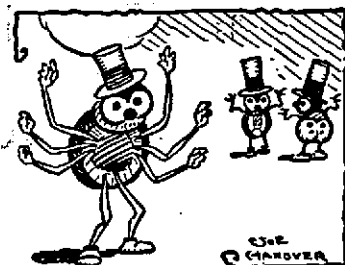

At Christmas time there is a general forgetting of everything but being natural. Christmas is the great annual armistice of that portion of humanity that has come to be segregated under the name of Christendom. Christmas is the finest thing that has come out of Christianity, because it is the friendliest thing. Men and women are not naturally and healthily meddlers; the best part of their lives and the most of their happiness does not come from the tyranny they exercise or the repressions they set up or the reformatory cruelties they inflict on others.

At Christmas time men and women forget to be anything but children again.

Perhaps some day there will be a sort of Christmas every day of the year. Perhaps men and women will be able to forget more often and more completely, and thereby live more completely, the elimination of bitterness and artificial antagonisms being both the cause and the effect of this happy state.

Perhaps one of the lessons of Christmas is that we have more to forget than to learn.—Detroit News.

VERY USEFUL

"Say, wouldn't Mr. Spider be useful to tie up bundles during the Christmas rush?"

Imperative.

Crawford—Does your wife beg you for Christmas money?
Crabshaw—I wouldn't put it exactly that way. She issues an ultimatum.—Judge.

Little Johnny's Fears

WHERE we use to live, we had
A fireplace big an' wide,
An' all that Santy had to do
Was hold his breath an' slide,
An' squeeze himself until he fit
The hole, an' then est drop—
An' he knowed where the stockin's was.
'Cause that was where he'd stop.

Where we use to live, it was
No trick for him to climb
Up to the chimney on the roof
An' find us, Christmas time;
But now I'm worryin' for fear
He won't know where he's at,
Or mebbe can't get in at all
We're livin' in a flat!

We're livin' in a flat, an' say,
You mus' be most polite,
Or else the janitor he'll go
An' lock you out at night!
Where Santy Claus can slide—
There ain't no fireplace—just a pipe
About two inches wide.

They heat our flat with steam—that's why
I'm afraid he can't get in
With all his toys an' drums an' things,
Unless he's awful thin;
An' how's he go to wriggle out
When he gets in? Gee whiz!
There's such an awful little hole
There where the sizzle is!

—Chicago Tribune.

Popular Christmas Decoration Is Growing Less Bountiful Each Year, According to Reports.

Christmas holly, that merriest and most beloved of all growing bushes, is threatened with extinction, according to a warning sounded by lovers of a red Christmas. Once growing profusely in southern New Jersey and Maryland, it has been swept from those states by the ruthless cutters for the city markets, and must now be sought in the swamps of Virginia and North Carolina, where already the supply is growing less bountiful each year. The Gulf states have been similarly shorn to make holiday for the large cities.

Within another generation, botanists say, holly will be as rare as mistletoe, which used to grow in abundance on the Atlantic seaboard, as far north as Raritan bay, but has now practically ceased to exist as a Christmas decoration. When will the American people learn that the bounty of their fields and woodlands is not limitless?

With sinking hearts nature lovers have long since recorded the disappearance of the delicate trailing arbutus, flower of the Pilgrim maidens, from all woods near large cities. The mountain laurel, which once swept the hills of June with pale pink drifts like naughty clouds running away from the sunset, has now retreated to the remote mountain sides.—New York Tribune.

The Rag Dolls Christmas

HERE was once a very, very old rag doll who lived in a nursery. She was so old that she had seen all the children grow up—the boy who wore trousers now, the girl who had her hair done in braids, the middle-sized child who had so often left the rag doll out in the garden at night. There was only the baby left—bless his pink toes!

But the rag doll was very, very old, and one beautiful Christmas time she began to show her age.

Her hair had been combed so much that it had come out dreadfully, and her nose, from a great deal of kissing, was entirely gone. Her pretty pink cheeks had been washed away when the boy tried to teach her to swim in the bath tub, and all her clothes were very untidy indeed.

The baby never noticed all these things, but the toys did; they all made the most unkind remarks to the rag doll the day before Christmas.

"Look at your dirty face," said the large French doll. "You'll be put in the attic to-night. That's where the old dolls go." "Look at your dress," said the jumping jack. "It is all torn. I wouldn't walk across the nursery floor with you."

"Did you ever see such thin hair?" asked the hobby horse. "I thought my tail was thin, but it isn't to be compared with that!"

But just then the nursery door opened, and the Christmas Angel came in. You could be perfectly sure that it was the Christmas Angel even if she did have on a gingham apron, because her face shone so through the dark.

"The French doll must go up to the attic," said the Christmas Angel. "There is a more beautiful new best doll coming."

"Why, the jack-in-the-box has forgotten how to jump."

You see the jack-in-the-box had been so excited about the rag doll's dress that he had broken his spring.

"The jack-in-the-box must go up to the attic, too," said the Christmas Angel.

Then she went over to the hobby horse.

"Poor, old hobby-horse!" she said. "Your leg is very badly broken. I will take you up to the attic until you can be mended."

"There," the Christmas Angel said at last, "the nursery is all tidy, and ready for new toys—but, dear me, what's this? Why, it is the little rag doll!"

"Oh, please, do I have to go to the attic, too?" said the rag doll. "It's very cold there, and I know the best doll will have the chimney corner for herself—and I don't want the mice to gnaw my toes!"

"Why, you dear old thing!" said the Christmas Angel. "You're the same rag doll that I used to play with when I was little. You go to the attic? Why, I just guess not! We couldn't get along without you in the nursery. You do need a little mending, but I am going to sew you, and then you shall sit on the very tippity of the Christmas tree."

The Christmas Angel lighted one of the Christmas candles so that she could see to sew. Then she took the rag doll in her lap and opened her workbag and set to work.

First she stuffed the rag doll's insides with plenty of cotton so she could sit up. Then she sewed her toes and put new little white stockings and black shoes on her feet. She took a piece of clean, white cloth and covered the rag doll's dirty face, and painted in blue eyes and a smiling red mouth and vermilion cheeks. She sewed on a new yellow wig; and then she made a pink-and-white checked gingham dress with puffed sleeves, and a white apron with strings to keep the dress clean, and a pink-and-white checked sunbonnet to tie under the rag doll's chin and keep her hair tidy.

"I think you will do now, you dear old thing," said the Christmas Angel. So it came Christmas morning, and there on the tippity of the tree sat the rag doll quite made over. The children thought her really the most beautiful of all the Christmas things. As for the rag doll herself—why, all the pleasure of her old days was as nothing to the happiness that was hers now.—Carolyn S. Bailey, in Kindergarten Review.

AFRAID OF SANTA

Presents of Apparel and Sweets Bring Confidence to the Men, Women and Kiddies.

AN AMUSING story of how Santa Claus frightened the black children at a mission station when he first appeared to them a few years ago, is told by the wife of a missionary stationed at Ballunda, Africa. They had celebrated Christmas at Ballunda before, but they never had had Santa Claus; so Mr. Stover, the missionary, dressed up as good Saint Nick.

"He had been padded and powdered and packed until his own mother would not have known him," Mrs. Stover afterward related. "Presently we gave the signal, the door flew open and in walked Santa Claus. But, dear me! What consternation! He was greeted with shrieks and groans and cries of 'Let me out! It is the evil one. It is the day of judgment!'"

"The urchins, catching the infection of terror from the older black people, fled to their bedrooms, fell down upon their faces, crept under chairs and tables—anywhere to hide themselves. Poor old Santa Claus never had such a greeting before. As soon as he realized the panic he had caused, he tore off his 'hail hat' and white cotton beard. Then from the bags on his back he began to throw gifts right and left and to tell who he was.

"Reassured once more, everyone was soon laughing and chatting, munching the great 'red breads' (doughnuts), tasting their fruits or nibbling at the sweets from the familiar little bags. One man wondered which end up he was to hold the fork Santa Claus had given him. Another immediately tried on his new shirt. The girls arranged their bright-hued handkerchiefs into turbans, while others sought to find some place about their scanty clothing where they could stow away their bunch of bread, as well as the paper of needles and cake of soap given to each.

"It seemed as though everyone tried to talk louder than his neighbor as they examined the costume of Santa Claus, whom they now no longer feared. One man said that he thought it was John the Baptist; another that it was Elijah returned. Yet another thought it was Satan himself.

Hanging Pictures.

In hanging pictures don't "sky them." A picture should be hung so that its center comes just on a level with a person of average height.
